RALPH MCGILL Moderation And Clamor

There seems to be going on in the nation a slow pull toward the political center by the major players and the newspapers supporting them in the great quadrennial drama of electing a president of the United States. There is no discernible drive to the extreme left. Nor is there any mobilization of power for a push to the political right of ultra-conservatism.

While this is true of the two principals, Adlai Stevenson and Dwight D. Eisenhower, it by no means applies to the lesser performers. They are full of sound and fury, and an obvious wish to move into any vacuum, however extreme.

During the period of Abraham Lincoln's birthday celebration, for example, the Abraham Lincoln Republican Club of Chicago sponsored a number of speakers who delivered blistering attacks on President Eisenhower, Secretary Dulles and the administration in general.

Among the speakers was Republican Sen. Jenner who, in 1952, took a ride on the Eisenhower coattails. He indirectly accused the Eisenhower administration of being soft toward communism. He called for a Congress which would restrain the executive branch.

Isolationists

Yet another Republican leader, such as grows in the curious political climate and soil of the Chicago area, declared that our soldiers, arrested for criminal acts against civilians of other nations and tried by the courts of those countries, are "martyrs to internationalism."

Still another declared the State Department under Dulles had become a sovereign state, closer in spirit to the foreign chancelleries than to the grass roots of the United States. (It is odd how much the pavement-bred Chicago isolationists think they know about the grass roots.)

In addition to these, of course, are the McCarthy followers. Sen. Knowland, spokesman for the hard core of the followers of former Sen. Taft, also is unhappy. He, it happens, seems to be the only really intellectually honest voice in the push toward the right and toward isolation, and he is the more effective thereby.

There are others. These will serve to illustrate the point. On the Democratic side the two best examples are Gov. Harriman of New York state and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Gov. Harriman, for example, has disagreed with both President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson on the school segregation issue. He proposes immediate action. Both the President and his Democratic opponent have noted the Supreme Court itself sensed the complexity of the problem and provided for supervised gradualism, not immediacy.

Support

Sen. Kefauver is caught in one of the more painful political traps. He desperately needs support. He very practically sought to pick up the forces of discontent which always are present. They are jealous forces, and often as violent as the small tornadoes of late summer.

There are other Democratic leaders, largely centered in Michigan, who are willing to pull down the pillars of the national party if it will increase their state power.

Adlai Stevenson sensibly has pointed out the unanswerable fact that if one does not have moderation, one has immorality. We will not solve any of our problems if we attempt to do so with the cutting blades of immoderate controversy and conflict.

In all of this the Republicans possess one advantage. They permit the vice president, of a moderate President, to be recklessly immoderate and demagogic.

It is almost incredible that the vice president of the United States should be permitted, without rebuke from his party, to slander the chief justice of the Supreme Court and the associate justices. Yet, the vice president did boast, in a campaign talk, that "a Republican chief justice had ordered an end to racial segregation in the nation's public schools."

The GOP thus has an advantage—a moderate President, an immoderate vice president. They can work both sides of the street.

U.S. Orders Halt In Tank Shipment To Saudi Arabia

The U. S. early Friday morning revoked a decision to ship 18 United States tanks to Saudi Arabia. The revocation was announced simultaneously in Washington and Thomasville, Ga., where President Eisenhower is vacationing. Correspondents in Thomasville were alerted after Thursday midnight that a press conference would be held shortly. Presidential Press Secretary Hagerty emphasized the conference would not be concerned with the President's health.

MORE TROUBLE FEARED

Suspension of the tank shipment evidently was an effort to prevent the impending delivery of the weapons from creating a new wave of excitement and possible new trouble in the tense Arab-Israeli situation.

It had the effect also of meeting vigorous Democratic criticism of the proposed shipment in the Senate last night.

Technically, the new decision was to suspend an export permit covering the tanks, which the State Department had described as training vehicles.

NINE HOURS LATER

The action was announced by the State Department about nine hours after the department had first disclosed that 18 Walker Bulldog tanks were scheduled for shipment today aboard the SS James Monroe from Brooklyn for Damman, Saudi Arabia, in line with a deal concluded last September.

The ship was scheduled to leave New York tomorrow for Damman port on the Persian Gulf.

News of the shipment raised a furor in Washington. The State department, in line with its avowed policy to avoid an arms race in the Middle East, has so far resisted heavy political pressure to sell Israel $50,000,000 worth of modern weapons to offset Soviet bloc shipments to Egypt.

Anderson Hits Election Plan, Quits in Polk

CEDARTOWN, Feb. 16—Kankakee (Buck) Anderson, superintendent of Polk County schools, has resigned because he believes the proposal to elect a superintendent of schools in Polk County "will create a freak with two heads."

In the past, the Polk County school superintendent has been appointed by the board of education.

Anderson said the local constitutional amendment, passed by the current legislature, "will set the Polk County school system back 20 years." The amendment still must be approved in a local referendum.

W. S. Wilkerson, a member of the Polk County board of education, said the resignation will become effective Aug. 31. He said he understood Anderson, former president of the Georgia Education Association, has other offers that would pay him more than his present position.

Anderson said he had resigned "in the belief that this should satisfy those who want the change."

"Since I can change jobs without any personal sacrifice," he said, "this should make everyone happy."

Anderson said he had resigned "in the belief that this should satisfy those who want the change."

Ike Bags Quail Limit, May Try Links Today

THOMASVILLE, Feb. 16—Acting more and more like a man physically able to run for reelection, President Eisenhower spent a full day hunting Thursday and bagged the legal limit of 12 quail in one day.

Then, after his busy day in the woods and fields of Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey's Milestone Plantation, the President dined and played bridge with other guests.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Hay (Jock) Whitney of New York and Thomasville and William E. Robinson, president of

There is a possibility that Ike may switch from hunting to golf Friday and play Thomasville's famed Glen Arven Country Club course.

EL CENTRO, Calif., Feb. 16—Edgar Eisenhower told newsmen here tonight that he thinks his brother, President Eisenhower, will seek a second term.

The Tacoma, Wash. attorney came here for a banquet honoring Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

"Knowing the Eisenhowers and the way their minds work, I think Dwight will run," said the lawyer. "He has a job which isn't finished and he doesn't like to leave anything unfinished."

Solons Would Probe Contributions, Spot Efforts To Control Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—The Senate Elections subcommittee voted unanimously today for a full investigation of any attempts to control Congress through campaign contributions.

Its members solicited the cooperation of Senate leaders and every senator in a "nonpartisan" inquiry into "contributions to election campaigns, federal elections and such evidence of corrupt practices as may be revealed."

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), the subcommittee's new chairman, plans an investigation which will run through 1956. Undoubtedly it will provide some election-year fireworks.

Gore expressed confidence the Senate would approve the investigation and furnish the money to get under way. "I believe there will be widespread support for the work of this subcommittee," he told newsmen.

Queen Ends Nigerian Tour, Off to London

KANO, Nigeria, Feb. 16—Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh left by air tonight for London, ending their 20-day tour of Nigeria. The people of this northern Nigerian capital gave the royal party a noisy, affectionate farewell.

Drummers and trumpeters escorted the procession through the old, mud-walled inner city.

No Big Issue Faces Session After 40 Days

The General Assembly sails into the final day of its 40-day session Friday, with action already completed on practically all major legislation.

An early adjournment is foreseen by the floor leaders of both houses, Sen. Howard Overby of Gainesville and Rep. Denmark Groover of Bibb.

LONG LIST

While a long list of general bills is still pending, there is nothing before the Legislature which could hold the House and Senate in an overtime hassle running into late Friday night.

Another attempt will be made in the House early Friday to revive the Home Rule Bill, tabled Thursday.

The Senate will act on a proposal for a constitutional amendment permitting the legislative branch of the government to grant salary raises to the executive and judicial branches. At present, the pay of the governor and the judges is frozen into the Constitution.

PASSES HOUSE

The proposed amendment, already approved by the House, would not permit the Legislature to reduce the pay of the other two branches of government below that fixed in the Constitution.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, which favored the amendment Thursday, said it would do away with the "subterfuge" now practiced by the Legislature of granting subsistence pay and other allowances to the governor and the judges.

The Senate and House will be acting on economy bills on the last day of the session.

Draft Frees Fathers and Men 26, Up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—A new presidential order today virtually relieved fathers and men over 26 from any present likelihood of being drafted.

They will still be subject to call, a White House announcement said, but they won't be drafted unless military manpower needs cannot be met from pools of younger men and nonfathers.

An executive order, signed by President Eisenhower yesterday and announced today, changed the order in which registrants will be called for induction.

QUOTA PRIORITY

It put childless registrants aged 19 through 25 ahead of fathers and older men on the list from which draft boards will fill their quotas. There are now an estimated 1,347,000 registrants in the 19-25 group. Annual additions to the category are estimated at 200,000.

By comparison, the annual nationwide draft calls would be 192,000 at the rate of 16,000 a month.

Up until now fatherhood has not been a ruling factor in the operation of the draft. The practice has been to call the oldest eligible men first, regardless of parenthood, and work down.

The spokesman said the new order would give the military services the best available men and would be more economical for the government from the standpoint of dependents' allowances.

The White House itself said the new order would be more advantageous to the armed forces and be less disruptive to the community.

It was specified that the change in the order of call "does not in any way affect the induction of doctors under the doctors draft law."

ORDER FOR CALLING

Here is the new order for calling men up:

First, draft delinquents who have reached 19, with the oldest being selected first.

Second, volunteers up to the age of 26.

Third, nonvolunteers 19 through 25 who do not have a child, with the oldest being selected first.

Fourth, nonvolunteers 19 through 25 who do have a child, with the oldest being selected first.

Fifth, nonvolunteers aged 26 or over with the youngest being selected first.

Sixth, nonvolunteers between 18½ and 19 with the oldest being selected first.

Commons Favors No Death Penalty

LONDON, Feb. 16—Britain's House of Commons voted tonight to abolish the death penalty.

The 233, 282 decided went against an Eden government effort to have capital punishment retained. The House was tumultuous after the vote that climaxed a century-old parliamentary battle.

Cheers rang out as tellers announced that the House wanted to abolish the death penalty. Prime Minister Eden's government to do away with the hangman and his noose.

She Asks the Unusual; Expects Worst at Best

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—Sen. Cotton (R-NH) disclosed today that he has received a fan letter from a high school girl who wants to collect pictures of senators instead of movie stars.

"All my friends are saving pictures of movie stars and I want to be different," so please send me photos of 12 senators," she wrote.

"Please pick carefully, even the best are sort of funny looking," she added.

Home Rule Bill Killed By House

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

Home rule, asked for by 78 per cent of Georgia voters, was killed by the House of Representatives Thursday afternoon.

On motion of Rep. Hugh Gillis of Troup County the House voted, 85 to 76, to table the Senate-passed bill which a joint study committee worked months to perfect.

Rep. Bernard Nightingale of Glynn County, a member of the study committee, immediately served notice he will ask reconsideration of the bill Friday.

WANTED SINCE 1945

"The people of Georgia have asked for home rule ever since the adoption of the constitution in 1945," Nightingale told the House.

Other Legislature stories on Pages 8 and 9.

"This bill is an attempt by the General Assembly to give the people of Georgia what they have asked for."

Nightingale painstakingly enumerated the provisions of the measure, emphasizing that the bill was permissive and not mandatory. He listed the powers reserved to the General Assembly, including extension of city limits, granting and revoking of city charters and pension and retirement system changes.

CARLISLE SUPPORT

There was but one other speaker on the bill, Rep. Douglas Carlisle of Bibb County, who said, "If you vote for this bill, your county can have home rule if it wants it. If you vote against it, you will keep my county from having it."

Rep. Gillis immediately asked that the bill and an amendment be tabled.

Earlier in the day the House also lustily voted down an effort by Floor Leader Denmark Groover to get floor action on a workmen's compensation bill which he said would correct inequities in the present law.

By a voice vote of loud "No's" the House members made their opposition so unmistakable Speaker Marvin Moate did not ask for a show of hands.

Groover, supported by Rep. Frank Twitty, of Mitchell County, floor leader for the Talmadge administration, asked the House

Senate Adds $775,000 to House Figure

By M. L. ST. JOHN

The Georgia Legislature Thursday sent a $285 million dollar appropriation bill to Gov. Griffin for his signature.

The Senate unanimously added almost $1 million dollars to the bill as passed by the House, and the House unanimously accepted all Senate amendments.

In its final form, the spending bill called for an annual "regular" budget of $285,964,433.60. Current state spending is $272 million dollars.

The new bill included a "contingent" budget of $55,425,000, which will be financed if the state's income exceeds the administration's anticipations.

FUND FOR SCHOOLS

The Legislature earmarked 80 per cent of the money in the "contingent" section for schools—after gasoline and motor vehicle tag fees have been allotted to the Highway Department.

The Senate increased the House-passed bill by $775,000 in the "regular" section, and by $500,000 in the "contingent" section. The House approved the increases.

There was no debate on the huge money bill in either branch of the Legislature. However, Sen. Walter Harrison of Millen told the Senate that he didn't think the General Assembly had spent sufficient time studying a proposal to spend one-third of a billion dollars of the taxpayers' money.

HIGHER THAN ASKED

As the bill went to the governor, it was nearly $2 million dollars higher in the "regular" section than Gov. Griffin had recommended in his budget message. It was $2,025,000 higher in the "contingent" section than the governor asked.

The total of proposed state spending, including both sections of the appropriations bill, is $340,389,455.60 annually.

If signed into law by the governor—and indications are it will be—the bill will be in force for one year, or until another General Assembly passes a new law.

The full Senate added $100,000 to the House-passed bill as recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The Senate committee had recommended that $100,000 be shifted from the University System to the Department of Agriculture in the "regular" budget

Leland Harvey Freed Of Kidnaping Charge

COLUMBUS, Feb. 16—A Muscogee Superior Court jury Thursday found former Georgia escape artist Leland Harvey innocent of a charge of kidnaping.

The ex-convict was accused of kidnaping three persons here Jan. 7 in an attempt to gain entry to a drugstore for purposes of robbery.

The jury deliberated nearly 10 hours before returning its verdict at 2:42 p.m.

The disposition of two other charges of kidnaping and a charge of robbery by intimidation against Harvey remained in doubt. All are in connection with the abduction of Sgt. Harvey Nelson, 22, Fort Benning soldier's wife, and a neighbor, Mrs. Jo Ann Daniels, in an effort to secure the keys to a drugstore here.

Sgt. Nelson, whose wife worked at the drugstore, said Harvey and another man, W. E. Smith, Atlanta, who also faces charges here, took the three in Nelson's car to the store. Sgt. Nelson said the pair bound them with chain locked with small, cheap locks. The state produced chains and locks similar to those used, which the prosecution said were found in Smith's car when Harvey and Smith were arrested in Atlanta. Keys found in the car unlocked the locks used here.

Harvey, however, said he had started out from Atlanta in his car to go to Ashburn, but had returned when his car developed motor trouble.

He said he happened to meet Smith, got in his car, and drove around with him until they were arrested by police. Officers reported finding two pistols in the car with them.

Troops, Fleet Rebel Against Peru's Chief

Grab Port, Demand Election; President Mulling Defense

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 16 (AP)—The 12,000-man Peruvian army garrison at the Amazon River port of Iquitos revolted today against the government of Pres. Manuel Odría.

The revolt was headed by Gen. Marcial Pereira. The Amazon River fleet based at Iquitos joined the revolt.

President Odría issued a decree declaring a state of siege, or modified martial law, and established press censorship.

REBELS' DEMANDS
The rebels issued a manifesto demanding the end of Odría's authoritarian regime and full guarantees for the presidential election scheduled June 3.

The rebel manifesto was broadcast over all Iquitos radio stations repeatedly throughout the day.

According to the United Press correspondent in Iquitos, the troops marched out of their barracks at 3 a.m., seized the prefecture building and other government offices and arrested all local authorities.

CALLS CABINET
President Odría called his Cabinet into permanent emergency session and began planning steps to put down the revolt.

Iquitos is the headquarters of the Light Forest Division, at least 12,000 strong. It is charged with the defense of the Peruvian borders with Colombia and Ecuador.

Odría's decree suspended constitutional guarantees for 30 days. The decree said the "subversive movement" in Iquitos was a result of the "plan of agitation carried out since last December by certain political groups."

EMERGENCY POWERS
The decree, signed by President Manuel Odría, said the Ministries of War, Navy, Air, Interior and Police had been invested with special powers during the emergency.

Iquitos is the capital of Loreto Department in northeastern Peru and the country's chief port on the Amazon River. It is located 2,300 miles from the mouth of the river and 1,200 miles from Lima. Iquitos has a population of about 30,000.

Iquitos is connected with Lima by both air and highway.

During the big Amazon rubber boom some 30 years ago, Iquitos was a bustling city of 40,000. It inherited some ambitious buildings from that period as well as well-made streets and plazas.

Strikers Win 5 Rest Room Visits a Day

CARFIN, Scotland, Feb. 16 (UP)—A knitwear factory today conceded the right of 60 striking girls to visit the rest room at least five times a day without permission.

The girls at the S. H. MacKinnon plant went on strike yesterday because the management told them they would have to be excused by supervisors. Another 200 girls accepted the ruling and stayed on the job.

The management contended the girls had adequate intermission time in their 30-minute lunch period and two 10-minute breaks during a nine-hour 15-minute day.

The 60 strikers said it was "too embarrassing" to ask permission to go to the rest room.

"It was as if we were back at school again putting up our hands and asking the teacher if it was all right to leave the room," said strike leader Cathy Russell. "The rule was just plain stupid."

Margaret Disregards Rumor of Faith Shift

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Princess Margaret plunged into a round of Church of England social activities today, heedless of published reports that she may become a convert to Roman Catholicism.

The young princess, third in line to the throne, drove to the home of Dr. Walter Mathews, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, for tea. Then she drove to an Anglican concert at Grocers Hall for the benefit of the cathedral choir school.

HORDS OF NEWSMEN
Hordes of newsmen, mindful of the reports published in West Germany, Spain and the United States of Margaret's possible conversion, greeted the princess when she arrived at the cathedral in the heart of London.

It was believed that the visit to Dean Mathews was routine and had been on her regular schedule before the outburst of rumors.

So far as the rumors go, she is ignoring them. Buckingham Palace would say only "no comment."

Court circles denied the rumors vigorously. They said Margaret is a devout Anglican communicant. It was for faith, which bans divorce, that she renounced her love for Group Capt. Peter Townsend, a divorced man, last fall, they pointed out.

TEA WITH DEAN
The tea with the Dean, intentionally or not, lent weight to the denials. Also present at the tea were the archdeacon of London, O. H. Gibbs-Smith, and Canon Marcus Knight of St. Paul's.

Sources close to the royal family said that the reports were rumors and nothing more. A Church of England clergyman who is one of her spiritual advisors said there is "no foundation whatsoever" to the reports.

Adlai Says Presidency Full-Time

Says Half-Way Job Is Out

By LAWRENCE E. DAVIES
(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)
SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 16—

Adlai Stevenson said today he did not know President Eisenhower's intentions about seeking reelection but he thought no conscientious man would look upon the presidency as a part-time job.

The aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination replied at Boise, Idaho, to a question about "the prospect of Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Eisenhower" heading their party tickets in the fall campaign.

"As to Mr. Stevenson's prospects," Stevenson responded, "I won't comment because I might be suspected of prejudice."

HARD DECISION
"As to the President, I don't know what President Eisenhower intends to do, but I do know his is a hard decision. I don't believe any conscientious man would think of the presidency of the United States, with its burdens and problems, as a part-time job."

Stevenson had a press conference at Boise just before coming to Salt Lake City, where tomorrow night he makes the concluding address of his Western tour.

Asked whether he thought the presidency had been considered a part-time job in the last three years he said he did not know. Then he referred the questioner to his "conscientious man" statement and said it applied to the past, present and future.

REFUSES STAND
He refused to commit himself specifically on whether the presidency had been a part-time job since President Eisenhower's heart attack last September.

"I am not too informed on that," Stevenson said. "The President has been very ill."

The candidate pronounced himself "shocked" by Vice President Nixon's mention in a New York speech Monday of the "Republican" chief justice, Earl Warren, in connection with the desegregation decision of the Supreme Court.

Stevenson said in his opinion it was a "very calculated statement" on Nixon's part.

ON CHIEF JUSTICE
"You don't attach any criticism to the chief justice?" he was asked.

"No, on the contrary," he replied.

Someone asked if President Eisenhower ought to take steps to "quiet" Nixon.

"I don't undertake to give the President advice," Stevenson shot back.

Great Dane Has Hamburger Charge Account

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 — A member of the East Side gentry, a fellow of some means, maintains a hamburger account for his great Dane at P. J. Clarke's, a restaurant and bar at 915 Third Ave. The dog rises from a place at his master's feet at the bar when hunger impels him, crosses to the food counter, and gets into position for his meal. He has never eaten fewer than 30 hamburgers at a standing, never more than 42. Ordinarily hamburgers sell at 45 cents, but the great Dane gets his for 40, all rare. "They're cheaper," the manager explains, "because he has his meat without rolls."

Ala. Escapee Visiting Grave Of Ex-Wife Nabbed in Tenn.

PARIS, Tenn., Feb. 16 (AP)—An Alabama escaped convict, who came to this west Tennessee city to visit his former wife's grave, was captured today following a high-speed chase and gun battle.

Police Chief Lawrence King identified the man as Thomas Moore, an escapee from Kilby prison in Montgomery.

Chief King told newsmen: Paris police received a tip that Moore was en route to Paris. A cruising patrol car stopped Moore in a 1955 car about a mile from the city cemetery.

The cruiser attempted to pull him over but he roared off with the patrol car giving chase. The convict raced through Paris and out a U.S. highway east of town.

His car, moving better than 100 miles per hour, was slowly outrunning the squad car when Moore wrecked trying to avoid a stopped school bus.

Moore ran across a field, opening fire at patrolmen Keith Vea-

And the Taxpayers Pick Up the Check!

The rules committee of the Georgia Senate yesterday delivered the final blow to taxpayers' dreams that this administration seriously was concerned about economy.

The committee voted 8-1 against passage of a resolution by Sen. Millican to set up a permanent Senate Economy Committee as requested by Lt. Gov. Vandiver. The move was opposed by the Griffin administration just as it opposed a House proposal to set up a joint Senate-House economy group.

This latest action follows a peculiar pattern. One by one all major recommendations of the Legislative Economy Committee have been quietly laid away by the administration.

The committee itself, which spent $43,000 in a six months' study, did a good job. It was applauded by the governor publicly and its economy objectives were approved by him.

Perhaps a few of the recommendations were not feasible, especially politically, but the bulk of them could have been put into effect.

Actually the only major economy measure passed was a resolution approving certain recommendations that could be accomplished administratively. There is no action to force any department to follow any of them. Without a legislative watchdog group, our guess is that few of them ever will become anything more than recommendations.

The Senate yesterday also approved the biggest spending bill in history—more than $284,000,000. After a few minor changes in the House, it will go to the governor and the Assembly's responsibility for the taxpayers' funds will have ended.

Let all Georgians note the pious pronouncements in favor of economy at the time taxes were raised last year now revealed in their true light. Let them note also who is responsible. Their growing tax bills will be mute testimony to one of the most hypocritical episodes in state government in recent years.

Valdosta's Fast Pace Makes Georgia History

The Chamber of Commerce of Valdosta and Lowndes County sat down to its annual dinner last night in happy and optimistic mood—and with good reason.

When they looked back at the accomplishments of 1955 they could total up the major ones as follows:

During 1955 thirty Valdostans deposited an additional $1,500,000 in the city's savings institutions.

The telephone company added 1,059 telephones during the year.

Also 1,631 electric meters were added to the local power distribution system.

And 1955 saw textiles the number one employer with Naval stores running a close second.

Retail sales showed an approximate increase of $1,000,000.

Even before 1956 had gotten well under way, the Southern Bell Telephone Company had announced a program of expansion for the state with some $250,000 to be spent in Valdosta. The city and county have had located in their area a huge Air Force base with jet aircraft, a huge $23,000,000 pulp plant, a garment manufacturing industry and a good variety of other plants.

The population of Valdosta's metropolitan area is at a whopping 35,000 and still the people come.

The Chamber heard plans for the new year and news that still more industrial development is ahead. Certainly it has been the intelligent vision and practical planning of the Chamber of Commerce which has enabled city and county to work so well together, thus assuring the growth and prosperity of both.

State Record Is Poor As Property Manager

A bill now awaits the governor's signature which very well could be one of the most quietly constructive pieces of legislation in recent years.

The measure would require ratification by two-thirds of the Senate on all leases of state property made a year in advance. Furthermore it requires the attorney general to look into all such leases made in the past with a view to breaking them.

Georgia owns the Western and Atlantic Railway between Atlanta and Chattanooga as well as valuable downtown real estate in both these cities. Considerable income is derived from the lease of these properties but apparently many millions more could be realized.

Sen. Everett Millican, who spoke for the bill, criticized the practice of the State Properties Commission in making new leases on these lands many, many years before the old leases expired and these new leases commence. In some cases the state signed leases in 1951 that do not begin until 1969 and run to 2009.

Leasing property that far in advance is obviously to the state's disadvantage, particularly in these times of boom and inflation. And, as an added thought, it is nearly time for the usually controversial lease of the state-owned Henry Grady Hotel property to be renewed.

The State Properties Commission is composed of the governor, the state treasurer and the chairman of the public service commission, presumably all competent to handle these real estate matters. In the light however of the probable millions which have been lost, a public review of these transactions by the State Senate can do no harm and might even do a world of good.

Atlanta Growth Parallels Its Gas Light Company

One hundred years ago, Feb. 16, 1856, a special act of the Georgia General Assembly granted a charter to Atlanta Gas Light Company. Today the second oldest continuously operated corporation in Georgia, the company still functions under its original charter.

The original company manufactured its own gas. The first lamp was lighted on Christmas Day, 1855.

Today the concern distributes natural gas to 50 communities, including Atlanta, and serves more than 300,000 customers.

When the company was chartered, Atlanta had a population of 6,000 people. The concern literally has grown with the community and its services have been continuous except for a brief period during the War Between the States when its facilities were destroyed.

The company has been controlled at various times by different financial interests, including holding companies. Today it is wholly independent, its common stock held by 6,575 shareholders of whom 4,839 are residents of Georgia. About three-fourths of the total stock is Georgia-owned.

Needless to say, Atlanta is happy to join in the company's celebration of its centennial. Few concerns have played a more important role in the city's and the state's growth while at the same time making an earnest effort to keep down the cost of gas to consumers.

The Atlanta Constitution, which is almost as old, joins in congratulations and best wishes to Atlanta Gas Light Company on 100 years of service to Atlanta and the state.

The Ham and Egg Shows Measure Negro Progress

Anyone with doubts that spring once more has come to Georgia can set those doubts at rest. The date for this year's Ham and Egg show has been announced.

The Ham and Egg show is a peculiarly Georgian sort of institution, though it has been adopted by other states as far away as Delaware and Arkansas. The first such show of its kind in the world was held in Fort Valley in 1916. It was aimed at weaning the Negro tenant farmer away from commissary victuals bought on credit to food he raised himself.

The dirty little eggs and the few poorly cured pork products of the first show were evidence enough that here was a field where missionary work could be done. And it has been done.

This year shows will be held in 25 counties beginning the last week in February and continuing through March. The big show, the daddy of them all, that in Fort Valley, is scheduled for March 8.

The economic progress of the Negro in Georgia in the last few decades can be measured in many ways of which these shows are one. From the pathetic exhibits of 1916 to today's fine poultry, pork and other farm products is a far cry, but so is the transition of many of the exhibitors from debt-ridden tenants to self-supporting, independent owners of their own farms.

Gainesville Daily Times

What an interesting statement we have from one Adlai Stevenson!

Mr. Stevenson has stated, in effect, that desegregation can't be stuffed down people's throats and he advocates a gradual approach to integration.

This indication of sympathy with the South's problem, if not its viewpoint, shows the human understanding Mr. Stevenson possesses, his candor, and lack of political demagoguery and, perhaps, the influence of some of his chief advisors, one of whom is an outstanding Southern newspaperman.

His attitude is both honest and accurate. It further shows that he is not the darling tool of the "Soapy" Williamsons and the Hubert Humphreys, but simply that type rare in political life—an independent thinker who says what he truly believes.

Carrying Out the Program

Bipartisan Committee Suggested To Study Problems Created by Explosive Racial Issue

New York—Mr. Stevenson ends his careful statement on the issue of integration of schools with the hope that the issue can be removed from the "political arena," and discussed "without the emotional coloration of a presidential contest." He concludes: "I still consider this not only possible but essential."

Mr. Stevenson points out that much violence and miscarriage of justice can be dealt with only under state laws.

I do not crave space to discuss Mr. Stevenson's whole program, but simply to point out that so far he has neglected the one chance of at least reducing the impact of the related issues which he has discussed on the presidential campaign. That one chance is the prompt appointment of a bipartisan commission with bipartisan support to study the facts in the field of denial of the right to vote, the miscarriage of justice, mob violence and the adequacy or inadequacy of federal law and procedure for the protection of the basic rights of all American citizens.

It is probable that a bipartisan report would help to prevent recurrence of violence by turning on the light. It might reduce the impact of the race issue on the election campaign and guide intelligent citizens, North and South, toward more effective dealing with an explosive situation.

Assembly Is Chipping Away At Freedom of Information

The so-called newspaper libel venue law, passed by the Legislature and signed by Gov. Griffin, is by no means the only bill affecting newspapers and freedom of information which has been introduced at this session.

As a matter of fact, a dozen or more bills were introduced and some of these may yet be passed in the final week of the General Assembly's session.

The libel bill is the most dangerous of it is the broadest measure offered, and it was patently a measure designed to harass the largest newspapers. It is a spiteful law and the spirit in which it was drawn, sponsored and passed is one of retaliation and vengeance.

But, some of the other proposals, though seemingly inconsequential, nevertheless amount to a continued chipping away at freedom of information.

Several pending bills relate to legal advertising. Most would reduce the number of insertions required for advertising certain legal actions.

Legal advertising is required for the protection of the public, and not for the benefit of newspapers. The newspaper merely happens to be the most effective means of presenting the required information to the public.

For instance, a certain number of advertisements are now required before an administrator can sell property of an estate. The purpose of this is to protect widows and orphans.

Other bills have been introduced which propose to limit, restrict or prohibit certain types of advertising. One would prohibit the advertising of prices and credit terms for eye glasses.

concerning Negro education in Yankeland. However, in actual practice it often works out that the Negro gets very little schooling. The pupil is shunned and slighted and made to feel so unwelcome in predominantly white schools that he often ends up staying at home. The truant officer dismisses it with a shrug and there the thing stops.

FRANCIS L. BAILEY

'Separate But Equal' Doesn't Hold Water

Atlanta—I wonder if the white Christians of Georgia who sponsor the separate but equal doctrine would be willing to continue it, giving Negroes the front of buses and other forms of transportation and giving them the accommodations and preferences the whites now enjoy in public places and jobs.

Do you know that a Negro who has worked for a company in Michigan can't get a job in Georgia doing the same thing for the same company even if there is a vacancy?

I would like for some public servant, such as a minister or state official to explain that to me. He is supposed to be a servant of the people and the Negro represents one-third of the people of Georgia.

Sound 'Bearer' Didn't Hit Back

The gas man knocked at the door. When the woman answered he said, "They told me there was something around this house that wasn't working." "It must be my husband," she said. "He's upstairs in bed; ain't hit a lick in six years." In Atlanta the joke could be almost 100 years old, and perhaps is.

The Atlanta Gas Light Company was founded a century ago this week. The city had gas before the company had a charter. The street lamps had been lit on Christmas Day, 1855. What made them burn was a gaseous vapor made from coal.

A Philadelphia named William Helme manufactured the stuff at the new gas works down on the railroad at Thurmond and Fuller streets.

The city had agreed to put up 50 street lamps and pay the gas company $40 a year for lighting them. The lamps complete, including fancy posts and burners, were made by the Schofield Bros. in Macon. They cost $21 apiece. The famous survivor is the post and flame at Alabama and Whitehall streets.

Atlanta started cooking with gas in 1881; it started heating homes with the stuff just 25 years ago, in 1930. Last year the company sold 984,884.172 therms of the blue flame. I don't know what a therm is, but the total gas bill along the mains was 37½ million dollars.

As one who never did like to carry ashes, may I be among those to wish Atlanta Gas Light a happy hundredth birthday?

NO RETALIATION: A jet plane cooking with gas caused a big noise and much comment over middle Georgia recently. Here's the story, as told by the Union-Recorder at Milledgeville, a la Andy Griffith. If you don't know about Andy G., you just ain't been listenin'.

"What it wuz, wuz a Jet Plane," the state's oldest weekly said, continuing: "We refer to the thundering, earth-shaking sound that struck Milledgeville about 1:20 p.m. We are told that what happened wuz the Jet hit a sound bearer."

"It is something, again we were told, that happens sometimes to Jet Planes. We don't know the technical side of the argument with the Jet Plane but the sound bearer did not hit the Jet back."

Millions Will Pray For Peace Today

Especially today, let every person pause for a special prayer. This is World Day of Prayer. As the sun rose this morning over the faraway Tonga Islands, a band of Christians were holding the first prayer service and these services are continuing around the globe until darkness settles over Alaska with the final service of the day being held on St. Lawrence Island.

When this day is over, Christians in 134 countries will have held special prayer services. For 69 years the first Friday in Lent has been so observed. Today there will be formal worship services in more than 200 communities in Georgia. In many schools, industrial plants and businesses of various types special prayer time will be had. In many cities across the country traffic lights will halt all motorists on the streets for a minute of prayer.

Central in the thousands of formal services this day is the prayer for understanding among all peoples, for the growth of the Christian church around the world and for world peace. It stresses the unity of all Christians though separated by geographical and national boundaries.

Such a day as this can mean more to the peace and happiness of the world than any of us could ever realize. We remember the Bible says, "Where two or three are gathered together in My name, there am I in the midst of them" (Matthew 18:20). So, when we realize that this day, not just two or three, but millions and millions are joining together through the medium of prayer, we know the prayers will be heard.

Go to one of the formal services today if possible. But even if you cannot join with one of the groups, you can add your prayers. One of the prayers for the services to-day was prepared by an Indian chief. Let's pray it together:

"O Great Spirit: whose voice I hear in the winds, and whose breath gives life to all the world, hear me. I come before you, one of your many children. I am small and weak. I need your strength and wisdom."

"Let me walk in beauty and make my eyes ever behold the red and purple sunset. Make my hands respect the things you have made, my ears sharp to hear your voice. Make me wise, so that I may know the things you have taught my people, the lesson you have hidden in every leaf and rock."

"I seek strength not to be superior to my brothers, but to be able to fight my greatest enemy—myself. Make me ever ready to come to you with clean hands and straight eyes, so that when life fades as a fading sunset, my spirit may come to you without shame." Amen.

Why This Timidity About Oil Lobby?

WASHINGTON—The U.S. Senate is showing a timid, guilt-conscious, unseemly lack of interest in exposing the facts on lobbyists' campaign contributions to U. S. senators.

Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota, who was offered and rejected the dubious $250,000 gift, was prevented from testifying promptly before the Senate Elections Subcommittee whose broad powers of inquiry might have been too productive.

For a while there was a very obvious effort to turn Sen. Case into a defendant and to try to make him look as though he were guilty because of his tactlessness in disclosing what happened.

There are quite a few on Capitol Hill who wish Sen. Case had not spoken out and who would like the newspapers to report the story on page 23 or not report it at all.

There is no present evidence of law violation. President Howard B. Keck, of the Superior Oil Company, states that the money did not come from "company funds" and his attorney, Elmer Patman, in delivering it to lobbyist John M. Neff who delivered it to Sen. Case's campaign headquarters in Sioux Falls, avows that this was "an outright volunteer contribution" that the gift was "perfectly legal."

That may well be. But is it good government? Is this a sound way to raise campaign funds or to allow them to be raised? The fact that the Senate is so reluctant to investigate shows how fearful the politicians are that any disclosing of widespread pressure-group contributions of campaign money will hurt their standing.

What soils the American political system is not the amount of money spent on elections but the sources from which most of it comes. The three principal sources of campaign funds are the well-financed pressure groups having a stake in specific legislation, the underworld which contributes far more than many realize and wealthy individual contributors who hope to be named to positions of trust, often more honorary than powerful.

But it is necessary for the congressional candidates and the two major parties to rely on purposeful and, in part, tainted money?

Something can be done about it and you don't have to pass a new law to make it possible. Only a few weeks ago both the Democratic and Republican Parties were at the point of embracing the proposal of the Advertising Council of America that through public-service advertising it could lend its great resources to raising campaign funds for both parties.

There is no doubt that it could be successful. The Gallup Poll, for example, shows that at least 16 million families would be willing to contribute five dollars each in 1956.

What would be needed would be a bipartisan committee on campaign funds which could receive and channel funds, raised by the Advertising Council, in accord with the wishes of the donors.

In the light of the Keck-Patman-Neft-Case episode, which grimly reminds everybody why both parties should be freed from purposeful money, can either party permit this project to go by default?

Thomas L. Stokes

GOP Hopefuls Are Impatient for Signal

WASHINGTON—Though keeping up a front of asceticism, decorum and plain self-denial, quite a few Republican gentlemen are ready to unbend and start running for president if Mr. Eisenhower thrusts aside the optimistic reports of his doctors and says "no." No political pundit analyzes any more carefully every word from the President and his same gentlemen.

tional political notice as floor manager for Willie.

This long-dominant wing of the party at conventions is the internationalist, moderately progressive element chiefly concentrated in the East and on the Pacific Coast.

There is more room over in the other wing of the Republican Party, the element which formerly looked for leadership to the late Sen. Taft of Ohio and is strongest in the Middle West.

A broad-shouldered gentleman from California, Sen. Knowland, Senate party leader, has that all to himself. He is not a bit coy about his intentions. He wants to be president.

And now, how about Richard M. Nixon, vice president of the United States?

He presently is identified, of course, with the Eisenhower wing of the party. But he is regarded as the candidate who can more nearly accommodate himself to all elements. For that reason he is recognized generally today as the leading candidate for the nomination if the President bows out.

In Nixon might be found the way to avoid a bitter factional fight at the convention. Republicans want to avoid such a fight if possible.

TO SPEAK—Lt. Gen. Samuel E. Anderson of Washington, D.C., will be speaker at the Reserve Officers' Assn., meeting at 7 p.m. Friday, Feb. 24, in the Ft. McPherson Officers' Club. Since August, 1954, Gen. Anderson has served as director of the Weapons Systems Evaluation Group in the office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Research and Development, Office of the Secretary of Defense.

Ala. U. Told To Abide by Court Edict

she was in class, shouting threats to kill her.

"The fact that the trustees acted as they did," Dr. Carmichael said, "has given the erroneous impression that we have abdicated in favor of mob rule."

"You and I know this is not true," he told the students and faculty members, "but we must resolve not to permit such disorder in the future."

Miss Lucy has brought legal action to regain entry to the university, and a hearing is scheduled on this in federal court in Birmingham on Feb. 29.

UP TO THE COURT

"What the decision now will be rests with the court," Dr. Carmichael said. "When it is announced I believe I can count on each of you, both faculty and students, to cooperate in such manner as to make certain that the University of Alabama will be on the side of law and order."

"If we play our part courageously and show to all the world that recent events do not represent the true University of Alabama we may early retrieve our rightful place in the esteem of all."

The students gave Dr. Carmichael a standing 30-second ovation when he rose to address them. They listened intently, with solemn faces, as he spoke in slow, measured tones—driving home the point of every phrase. When he had concluded they applauded for 45 seconds.

PHOTOGRAPHERS' BAN

The university had barred all photographers from the convocation, in an effort to prevent any distractions from interfering with the rapport between the president and the students. Several still photographers infiltrated the audience, however, and took pictures by natural light with small cameras.

Two of these were taken into custody and their film confiscated. One was a senior mechanical engineering student who said he had not known of the ban. The other was George Tames, a photographer for the New York Times Magazine, who said he had taken pictures because he saw others doing so and did not wish to be scooped.

The incident regarding the photographers did not disturb the program in any way. Several professional photographers had been admitted when they agreed not to take photographs, but all of them did so. Students, also, were seen taking pictures.

STUDENT IN CUSTODY

The student who was taken into custody was James Ralph Reid of Birmingham. James H. Newman, dean of administration, left the stage and took him from the auditorium during the singing of the alma mater. Tames was taken into custody by campus police shortly after he had left the auditorium to take pictures of the students as they were leaving.

The two were held in an automobile of the campus police until the students had dispersed, and then were driven to the office of William E. Pickens Jr., university comptroller, where they handed over their film to Dean Newman. The photographers were released.

Jury Probes Clemency in Florida Row

Judge Questions Governor's Role

TAVARES, Fla., Feb. 16 (UP)—Circuit Judge T. G. Futch, in an unprecedented action, today ordered a special grand jury to investigate charges Gov. LeRoy Collins "used the influence of his office" to persuade the Pardon Board to commute the death sentence of Negro rapist Walter Lee Irvin.

Judge Futch, who said he acted at the request of petitioning citizens, ordered the jury to assemble here Feb. 24. In Tallahassee, Collins expressed "shock" and said he will not appear before the jury "unless legally required to do so."

COLLINS REPLIES

He said there is a "serious question" if a governor should be called to explain to a grand jury a matter "involving solely the exercise of the governor's duties and responsibilities under the Constitution."

He said he had "serious questions about the guilt" of Irvin, sentenced in the notorious 1949 Groveland rape case, and "I assume full responsibility for the soundness of the decision of the Cabinet in commuting the death sentence."

There is nothing to investigate, he said, "except LeRoy Collins' judgment and conscience and both are beyond the control or coercion of a grand jury. They are subject to review by God and the people of Florida."

WILLING TO EXPLAIN

Collins said he can see no point in discussing the matter in a "secret" grand jury session when he is perfectly willing to explain all he knows "in the open and before anybody."

"If the state attorney, judge or grand jury foreman would like to ask me questions, if they'll come up here, we'll meet in the Cabinet room with the press and public present," he said.

Several petitions have been circulated in Marion and Lake counties since commutation was granted by unanimous action of the Pardon Board last Dec. 16. The two brought to Futch's attention listed about 120 signatures. One signer had the same name as the white farm wife who accused Irvin and three other Negroes of raping her. Two of the others were killed by law officers and the fourth is serving a life term.

PETITION GRAND JURY

The petitioners demanded the grand jury ask Collins to explain what evidence prompted him to grant Irvin clemency after it was denied by the state and federal supreme courts after conviction by two circuit court juries.

It also asked that Collins disclose the names of two attorneys he said investigated the case for him, where they made their checkup, who they talked to and who paid them.

Collins told newsmen today the lawyers were "personal friends" who exercised no official responsibility, were paid no fee and acted in an advisory capacity only. He explained the duty of the Pardon Board is "not to pass upon the technical soundness of the trial procedure under which a conviction and sentence to death is obtained" but to determine if under the circumstances, the person is entitled to executive clemency.

Mother and 4 Die in Fire, Under Probe

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 16 (UP)—A mother and four children died today and two other persons were missing in an outbreak of mysterious fires.

The missing firemen vanished inside a blazing warehouse and were presumed dead.

State, county and city authorities began investigating the possibility of arson in at least some of a series of six fires.

MARSHAL SUSPICIOUS

"I don't like the looks of it," said State Fire Marshal Ed Heron. "Definitely, it looks like somebody is starting them."

Mrs. Margaret Tedrow, 36, three of her children and a visiting child died in one fire which destroyed a two-story building at the Fort Des Moines veterans' housing area.

Heron said, "We don't have any evidence that the Fort Des Moines fire was started by someone," but that three other small fires in the area apparently were set.

2 MISSING

The two firemen, Lt. Dorman Johnson, 37, and Stanley Peterson, 25, had helped fight a blaze which swept through a half-block warehouse district, destroying two huge warehouses.

Another fire broke out in a railroad baggage car near the warehouse fire.

The Fort Des Moines fire killed Mrs. Tedrow, her children, Rose Marie, 12, Terry, 9, and Veronica, 7, and a neighbor girl, Margaret Ann Hutchinson, 11. Margaret Ann spent the night with the Tedrows after helping Rose Marie celebrate her 12th birthday.

Pilot Franco Spared, His DC-3 Hunted in Arctic

MONT JOLI, Que., Feb. 16 (AP)—Rescue planes ranged over northeast Canada's subarctic wastes today searching for a DC3 transport plane piloted by Harold E. (Whitey) Dahl, internationally known flier of fortune.

A Dorval Air Transport Co. spokesman, confirming that Dahl was the pilot, said the plane carried two or three other persons. The craft disappeared early Tuesday.

Dahl, a 47-year-old adventurer who first made news in 1937 when he was shot down while flying for the Spanish Republic in Spain's civil war, has been flying supplies for the Distant Early Warning radar line under construction across northern Canada. He was employed by the Dorval company, which has a fleet of C46

Commandos. The missing plane had changed ownership several times recently since it was damaged in an accident. The Dorval spokesman said he did not know the present owners.

After Dahl was shot down in Spain he was sentenced to be shot. Gen. Francisco Franco commuted the death sentence after Dahl's beautiful blonde wife sent the generalissimo a plea for clemency accompanied by her picture. The flier was freed from Spain in 1940.

Judge Gives Teen-Age-Gang Boy 16 Years In Slaying After 183 Refuse To Sit on Jury

CHICAGO, Feb. 16 (AP)—A 15-year-old who waived his right to a jury trial after 183 persons refused jury service was sentenced today to 16 years in prison for murder.

Judge Thomas Kluczynski of Criminal Court rapped the "unbelievable . . . lethargy of the citizenry" in avoiding sitting on the jury.

He said the sentence he was imposing on young Clement Macis was comparatively light because the boy agreed to a trial before a judge alone after "we tried for a week, and couldn't get a jury."

Macis was convicted by Judge Kluczynski of the shotgun murder of Kenneth Sieboda, 17, in a teenage gang's vengeance raid. Fourteen youths originally were charged with murder, but after the unsuccessful attempt to find a jury eight pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter and five were granted separate trials later. The eight who pleaded guilty to the lesser charge were given sentences ranging from 1 to 5 years to 4 to 14 years.

Macis—a thin, pale youth who was 14 when Sieboda was killed July 1—said in the trial that a shotgun he was holding went off accidentally when he and 13 other youths arrived at a street corner to settle a score with another group of youths.

A crowd of 500 Christians, mostly Chinese, met the North Carolina preacher at the airport.

Earthquake Rattles Oklahoma City, Vicinity

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 16 (UP)

—A brief earth tremor which rattled dishes was felt in homes here at 6:30 p.m. EST today.

The tremor, which came as a blast followed by a rumble and rolling vibration, also was felt at Edmond and Stillwater.

The Oklahoma City police station immediately was swamped with telephone calls from anxious residents. Capt. John Butler said there had been no reports of damage.

Television and radio stations in the Oklahoma City area also were kept busy answering the phone.

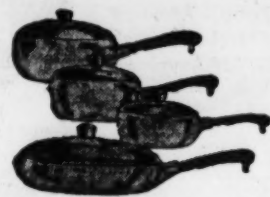

In Stillwater, Daily News reporter Liddy Davis said the tremor lasted about 15 seconds. It rattled windows there, he said.

The chief telephone operator at Edmond said the shock was noticed there about the same time it was first reported in suburban Oklahoma City.

The tremor not only was felt in the northwest suburban areas, but in other parts of the city.

Douglas DC-8s with Pratt & Whitney Engines to Offer Fast Through Service

Delta Air Lines has announced its order for a fleet of Douglas DC-8 jet transports, to go into service starting in 1959. These new airliners of the jet age will fly on Delta's domestic and Caribbean routes, offering a new kind of air travel—about twice as fast, with new luxury and comfort aloft.

The Douglas DC-8s will be powered by jet engines designed, developed and produced by Pratt & Whitney Aircraft. These twin spool, axial-flow engines will be so powerful they will give the airliners unsurpassed performance, carrying well over a hundred passengers.

Typical Delta DC-8 flight times will be Chicago to Miami, 2 hours 25 minutes; Atlanta to New York City, 1 hour 41 minutes; Chicago to New Orleans, 1 hour 54 minutes; New York to New Orleans, 2 hours 34 minutes; Houston to Washington, 2 hours 40 minutes; Dallas to Atlanta, 1 hour 37 minutes, and Chicago to Houston, 2 hours 3 minutes.

Transports built by Douglas have been used extensively by Delta Air Lines, and many of Delta's airliners have been powered by dependable Pratt & Whitney engines. The new DC-8s will be the product of a long association between Douglas and Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, which has given America many outstanding commercial and military aircraft.

Now as the world enters the age of jet air travel, the tremendous power and the dependability of Pratt & Whitney jet engines make them the logical choice to fly the jet airliners. These engines—and the new transports they will power—demonstrate again that the aviation industry of the United States continues to lead the world, making possible the world's finest air travel.

Says Solons Let Lumber Sale Bill Die

A south Georgia legislator Thursday charged that a bill setting a new standard for figuring lumber sales was deliberately allowed to die on the House calendar this week.

Rep. Andrew J. Tanner of Coffee County made the charge in a letter to H. L. Wingate, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau Federation.

Tanner called his bill "must" legislation and noted that "approximately 149 county chapters of the Farm Bureau... have passed a resolution requesting... this legislation."

The bill would allow more liberal estimates of board feet for sellers of timber. Tanner said the "Doyle" scale now being used is unfair to sellers and proposed the "Scribner's Decimal C" scale, which he said was recommended by the Forestry Department.

The Coffee solon said Speaker Marvin Moate was requested to bring the bill up on Feb. 8, 9, 13, 14 and 15, but "to no avail."

"The writer feels that a minority group of influential people, who are not altogether members of the House of Representatives, have done much to block this legislation," he wrote.

Moate denied Tanner's statement in the letter that very little opposition to the bill existed in the House. He said many members had asked him not to call the bill up, and noted that time also ran out on "at least 50 other bills."

Tanner said most timber sellers were small farmers.

Fitzgerald Band

FITZGERALD, Feb. 16—A comedy band composed of Fitzgerald citizens will take part in the band parents' basketball game to be held in the Fitzgerald High School auditorium Friday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Industrial leaders of Georgia withdrew their objection to "certain inequities" in it on the condition that they be corrected at this session. He said he pledged himself to work to remove the inequities.

"I'm not personally interested in this bill," Groover said. "The governor has no interest in it, except that he wants to correct abuses that exist."

Twitty joined Groover in urging House action on the measure. He pointed out that the Industrial Relations Committee disapproved it by a vote of only 7 to 9 and urged that it be put on the floor for debate.

Rep. Emory L. Rowland of Johnson County, who served as chairman of the Industrial Relations Committee, said his committee had studied the bill thoroughly, held a public hearing on it, and he urged that the committee report be sustained.

BAGBY OPPOSITION

Rep. George Bagby of Paulding County opposed further action on the bill which he called "one of the most damnable pieces of legislation offered in this House or any other." He said debate on it would tie up the House and keep it from acting on other legislation "because, by the grace of God, I will stand here and fight this thing as long as the breath is in my body!"

Rep. John W. Sogner of Chatham County asked the body not to "impugn the motives of the committee" by disagreeing with its report.

The House also passed a Senate bill which would give superior court judges emeritus credit for actual days' service in the General Assembly on their retirement records. A Senate bill to grant reciprocity recognition of dental licenses granted by other states was passed on motion of Rep. Alpha Fowler of Douglas County, who said the present necessity of taking the Georgia examinations keeps many well-qualified dentists from coming to Georgia to teach.

BANKING MEASURE

The House also amended and passed a Senate bill which Floor Leader Groover said was "designed to prevent the growth of an octopus in financial circles" by preventing banks from having more than 15 per cent of the voting stock in a series of banks. The amendment, however, allowed branch banks of big banks to have other branches in the same city where population exceeds 80,000. Groover said the amendment allowed one of the bigger Georgia banks "and other holding companies to grow with the communities" and did not "place a lid on reasonable growth."

In other actions the House approved free license tags for disabled veterans, provided for inspection of meat processing plants not already under federal inspection, put employees of the State Office Building Authority under the retirement system and empowered the public safety department to enforce anti-litter laws on public roads.

McWhorter Blast Scatters Lobbyists

Fellow members of the Georgia House of Representatives credited DeKalb Rep. Hugh McWhorter with "running the money changers out of the temple" Thursday.

The DeKalb legislator started a mass exodus toward the doors when he arose angrily and asked the arrest of a lobbyist who, he said, persisted in returning to the floor after he had been twice put off the floor and once led off by a doorkeeper.

The man, identified by McWhorter as a representative of the petroleum industry, was one of about a dozen persons who headed for the door. Several of the departing visitors were state employees.

$647,847 Bid For School Job

A Savannah construction company submitted the apparent low bid on the East Side High School at Savannah, the state School Building Authority announced Thursday.

The Rives E. Worell Co.'s bid was $647,847 on the project, which was estimated to cost $631,603.

Cotte members of Vidalia made the second lowest bid of $649,884, and Fuller and Peacock of Augusta submitted a bid of $650,111.

3-Man Utilities Board For Catoosa Okayed

By JACK NELSON

A bill creating a three-member Board of Utilities Commissioners for Catoosa County got final legislative approval Thursday.

The Senate passed House Bill No. 599, which names as first members of the board: David Brown, for a term ending Dec. 31, 1957; Paul Bowman, term ending Dec. 31, 1959, and J. F. Shirley, term ending Dec. 31, 1961.

The board will be empowered to operate and maintain water facilities, which now are controlled by the Catoosa County commissioners.

After expiration of terms of the initial members of the board, new members will be elected for six-year terms.

BERKELEY LAKE

Other local House bills which passed the Senate:

No. 314, which creates the city of Berkeley Lake in Gwinnett County some three miles southwest of Duluth, off U. S. Highway 23.

No. 412, which prohibits any member of the Chattahoochee County Board of Commissioners "or the clerk or the warden or any firm, partnership, association, or corporation in which either of such persons is a partner or a stockholder" from selling directly to the county any goods or supplies or other material. It also prohibits such persons from purchasing from the county.

No. 414, which abolishes the present Chattahoochee County Board of Commissioners, effective Dec. 31, 1956. It replaces the board with an office of Commissioner of Roads and Revenues. The first commissioner will be elected at the 1956 general election. The bill sets the commissioner's annual salary at $7,200, authorizes him to employ a clerk at a salary of $3,000 and a warden of the county public works camp at $5,400.

PULASKI COMMISSIONER

No. 452, which increases from $3,000 to $3,600 the annual compensation of the Pulaski County commissioner.

No. 453, which empowers the Richland mayor and council to condemn property and exercise the right of eminent domain for the purposes of laying out and opening cemeteries and public parks.

No. 506, which extends the Valdosta city limits.

No. 509, which establishes a new charter for the Town of Allentown.

No. 527, which extends the Moultrie city limits.

No. 533, which increases from $50 to $150 the amount of monthly compensation for the chairman of the Meriwether Board of Commissioners, and which increases from $35 to $75 the compensation of board members.

No. 539, which extends the Helen city limits.

THUNDERBOLT ZONING

No. 540, which authorizes the town of Thunderbolt in Chatham County to pass and enforce zoning and planning ordinances.

No. 546, which incorporates and establishes the city of North West Point in Troup County.

No. 553, which amends the several acts incorporating the City of Hiawasse in Towns County.

No. 558, which extends the Hogansville city limits.

No. 564, which extends the Macon city limits.

No. 568, which extends the Hogansville city limits, subject to a referendum to be held before Oct. 1.

No. 569, which changes from five to three the number of town councilmen for Kite, effective Jan. 1, 1957. The bill provides that no successor may be elected to two members of Council whose terms expire Dec. 31.

THOMAS TAX OFFICE

No. 582, which provides $100 monthly compensation for the offices of tax receiver and tax collector into the office of tax commissioner in Thomas County.

No. 597, which establishes a method of paying traveling expenses incurred by the sheriff of Glascock County.

FOR FARM MARKETS

The Senate added $500,000 for farm markets, $100,000 for poultry disease research, $150,000 for remodeling the third floor of the State Capitol into legislative committee rooms, and $25,000 more to the Department of Commerce. The House approved these increases.

A resolution was introduced in the House Thursday to earmark the first 10 million dollars of the "contingent" budget for use in raising salaries of classroom teachers. This resolution was in the form of a request to the governor. It was referred to the State of Republic Committee. Authors of the proposal were Reps. Willis of Thomas, Perkins of Carroll, Bodenhamer of Tift, Coker of Terrell, Clary of McDuffie, Kitchens of Twiggs, English of Berrien, and Strickland of Toombs.

ECONOMY BILL

Before acting on the spending bill Thursday, the Senate passed an economy bill and sent it to the governor. This would require future applicants for state jobs to take physical examinations.

The Rules Committee followed Gov. Griffin's wishes and buried Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver's hopes for a permanent Senate Economy

Committee. The vote to table a Millican voted for his motion. The viously had buried a resolution for poultry disease research. The full Senate decided to let the University System retain the $100,000, and to add a new $100,000 to the Department of Agriculture.

Ban Sought On Practice By Solicitor

Criminal Court Solicitor John I. Kelley would be barred from private law practice by an amendment introduced Thursday by the Fulton County House delegation.

The new clause reads:

"The said solicitor of the criminal court shall not engage in the private practice of law but shall devote his full time to the said criminal court."

The amendment came on SB 123, which would require the solicitor to keep criminal court dockets current and report them to the grand jury twice a year.

Rep. Hamilton Lokey said the amendment would help the solicitor "keep his docket up to date as suggested in a Constitution editorial this morning."

Urges Use Of Exchange For Services

Charles Kellstadt, Sears-Roebuck vice president, told the annual meeting of the Social Service Exchange Thursday that all public and private social agencies owe it to their clients to make full use of the exchange's facilities.

The exchange is a clearing house to which social agencies can report their cases and from which they can learn what other agencies have served a particular family or individual.

Pointing to Atlanta's population growth, Kellstadt said full use of the exchange will be necessary if local agencies are to give their clients the most helpful service possible.

Perryman Little was reelected president of the exchange. Also reelected were Eugene T. Branch, vice president, and Charles A. Meriwether, treasurer. Mrs. Edward L. Askren, Hugh E. Robinson and the Rev. Norman O. Shands were elected directors.

Cobb Court Allots $500 for Sanity Tests on Reece

MARIETTA, Feb. 16—Superior Court Judge James T. Manning ordered Thursday that a sum not exceeding $500 be paid for services of a psychologist and a psychiatrist in the case of Amos Reece, Negro convict accused of rape.

The action was taken on petition of Dan Duke, Atlanta attorney, who introduced a statement from a psychiatrist which said tests were needed to determine if Reece was insane.

The defense maintained Reece was insane at the time of the attack in 1953 and is now insane. The court also ordered Duke to continue as attorney for Reece, and gave permission for Duke's associate, Osgood O. Williams, to serve as additional counsel.

Senate Confirms Griffin Choices

The State Senate Thursday confirmed Gov. Griffin's three appointees to the Board of Regents and one to the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Reappointed to the Regents were Chairman Robert O. Arnold of Covington, Morris Bryan of Jefferson, and Quimby Melton Jr. of Griffin.

W. E. Buckner of Atlanta was renamed to the Workmen's Compensation Board.

4. In Columbus, as reported in a statement by the GBI in Columbus. The investigating committee was created by a House resolution following reports by Rep. George Bagby of Paulding and others that men purporting to represent members of the General Assembly and other state officials were soliciting a "slush fund" to defeat non-existent anti-pinball legislation.

The committee, appointed by Speaker Marvin Moate, consisted of Woodrow Lavender of Elbert, chairman; John Sheffield of Brooks; Grady Huddleston of Fayette; Harold Murphy of Haralson, and Bagby.

The investigators had 10 days to make their study and report its findings.

During the investigating period the committee heard GBI reports, testimony from pinball operators who reportedly had been "shaken down" and others.

Bruno Salter of Augusta, a pinball operator, testified he had given a check for $125 to men for a "slush fund." The check was endorsed by W. E. McDuffie, John T. McColl and E. G. Railroad.

McDuffie, a former GBI lieutenant, was subsequently indicted

DeKalb Court Revision OK'd, Sent Governor

DeKalb's court reorganization package Thursday received final passage in the Senate and was transmitted to the governor. The DeKalb delegation also agreed on salaries for six elected officials.

Only one day is left to get bills through, but considerable Fulton County legislation also cleared the calendar Thursday. Among them was a bill placing police promotions in the hands of the chief.

DeKalb's three court bills provide:

1. For a referendum on whether to abolish the City Court of Decatur. If this plan is adopted, other bills would:
2. Create a third superior court judgeship for the Stone Mountain Judicial Circuit, to be filled by election, and transfer all pending civil cases to superior court Jan. 1, 1957.
3. Expand the jurisdiction of civil court cases from $1,000 to $5,000, and transfer all pending misdemeanor cases to civil court Jan. 1, 1957. The present city court solicitor and assistant would be transferred to civil court and an additional judgeship created, to be filled by gubernatorial appointment the first two years.

The salary bill as agreed to Thursday provides yearly pay of $11,000 for the superior court clerk, tax commissioner and city court judge; $9,500 for the ordinary and sheriff, and $9,000 for the civil court judge.

HB 535, passed in the Senate Thursday, would abolish the examining board which passes on Atlanta police promotions and return to the pre-1951 system of delegating that authority to the chief. The same bill consolidates all city inspection departments.

Other Atlanta and Fulton bills receiving final approval were:

HB 587, providing for election of Fulton sheriff by a plurality vote, rather than a majority.

HB 566, creating a director of public safety.

HB 545 and 567, opening the Atlanta pension fund to include more city employees.

HB 537, 538 and 534 affecting city employees' pension benefits.

HB 97, providing a 1/4-mill levy for parks, and HB 108, allowing Atlanta to sell public parks.

3-City Port Measure Is Sent to Governor

Resolutions calling for establishment of port facilities at Brunswick, Augusta and Bainbridge were passed by the Senate Thursday and sent to the governor.

McDuffie and McColl also have been identified as officials of a traffic safety magazine printed at the Bainbridge newspaper plant owned by Gov. Griffin and his brother Cheney.

Griffin from the start has expressed indignation that his name or that of any member of his family was used by racketeers. He said he wanted persons so using his name "put in jail."

The report by the investigating committee read, in part:

"The committee finds: (1) There is evidence that a pinball con-racket was being perpetrated by certain individuals in several counties in Georgia, (2) that there is no implication of the General Assembly, either collectively or individually, in the so-called pinball racket, (3) that there is no implication of any member of the GBI presently serving in any capacity with this organization."

Later in the report the committee commented:

"While it was not within the scope of HR 135, the committee would state further that in addition to no member of the Gen-

Malaya Communists Reported About Gone

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, Feb. 16 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Sir Geoffrey Bourne, commander of military operations in Malaya, says the jungle Communist remnants are about finished. In a speech this week he said a little more effort by the combined British, Australian, and Malay troops would wipe out the last of the estimated 3,000 survivors.

IS MOM'S FACE RED!—COLOGNE, West Germany, Feb. 16.—That mustached visage belongs to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, but the figure is West Germany's idea. The tongue-in-cheek float, part of Cologne's pre-Lenten carnival parade, depicts the Red official as a busty mother telling an unruly child—West Germany—to remove his helmet, symbol of rearmament. Crowds throng steps of Cologne's famed cathedral to look on the procession, similar to the Mardi Gras.

Mississippi Tornado Slams Mile of Homes

Kills 1, Injures 20 and Plunges 70 Pct. of City Into Darkness

ABERDEEN, Miss., Feb. 16 (AP)—A tornado cut a ragged, mile-long path through a residential area here tonight, destroying a half-dozen homes and business firms, damaging a score of others and causing at least one death. Another 20 persons were reported injured.

Isral Hayes, about 35, Negro, was killed as the twister roared through a predominantly Negro housing area on its 200-yard wide swipe, tearing down communication and power lines and plunging about 70 per cent of the city into darkness.

Eight of the injured, five of them Negroes, were hospitalized. Others were treated for minor injuries and discharged.

Police said it would be daylight before they were able to make sure there were no more victims buried in the wreckage of the flimsy frame homes.

Mayor Walton Bright said there "probably will be other injuries." A local National Guard unit volunteered to help police and highway patrolmen comb the debris-strewn area to look for other possible fatalities.

Maj. Gen. W. P. Wilson, state adjutant general, left Jackson tonight to personally inspect the damage, described by local police as "considerable."

Wilson's office was told three homes were left in shambles and three or four business firms, all believed small shops, were smashed.

Highway patrolmen placed roadblocks around the area to keep out the sightseers who flocked to the scene shortly after the twister, accompanied by a few hailstones, slammed into the area in the northern part of town from the west, bearing slightly to the northeast. It wrenched roofs and porches from many homes and tossed trees and debris into the streets.

Richard Breitenfeld, an announcer for radio station WMPA, said "many other homes" were damaged.

"I was looking out the window when it suddenly got much darker and the wind started to blow as strong as a tornado," Breitenfeld said. "I didn't see the funnel but the winds were certainly strong enough for a tornado."

Highway patrolmen and the weather bureau later confirmed that it was a twister that had hit the area between 7:15 and 7:30 p.m. (Atlanta time).

A backlog of long distance calls built up on an emergency-only basis and telephone operators said

Kefauver Urges U.S. Aid Despite School Race Bar

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver said tonight the issue of racial integration should not be a stumbling block in the granting of federal aid for the construction of schools.

"Children should not be penalized by having federal aid cut off," the Tennessee candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination said.

He made the remarks in an interview with The Miami Herald.

Kefauver recalled that Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.), a Negro, has indicated he will try to amend school aid bills so the money can be spent only in states which have no public school segregation. The senator said he fears the bills would be jeopardized by such amendments.

He said he feels desegregation "is the Supreme Court decision and therefore the law of the land." But different sections of the country, he added, might have to go about implementing this law in different ways.

Suspect Confesses After Seeing His Dog

TOKYO, Feb. 16 (AP)—Chigaru Shimomura, 25, was arrested on suspicion of assault. His Alsatian dog kept a sorrowful vigil outside the police station while Shimomura protested his innocence. After 24 hours police let the dog in to see his master, who thereupon wept out a confession, the police said.

Where will our kids look for opportunity... here at home? or far away?

You might say "Wherever the good job is." But why not make sure that "good job" is right here at home?

Rayonier believes that tomorrow's opportunities depend upon what is done today to encourage industrial growth... and more "good jobs."

WHAT'S NEEDED? Physical assets are important, of course. A growth company like Rayonier, with plants in Washington, Georgia, Florida and British Columbia, requires millions of gallons of water daily; hundreds of millions of board feet of timber annually; some 8,000 skilled employees; adequate transportation facilities and many other advantages. But isn't a favorable industrial climate equally important?

Rayonier is not interested in free plant sites, tax remissions, or similar inducements for expansion. We expect to pay our own way, like any other responsible citizen.

Rayonier is interested in a friendly spirit of helpful co-operation... just tax structures... and laws that are fair to both employee and employer.

HOW CAN YOU HELP? A favorable industrial climate doesn't just happen. You and your neighbors create it. Do you want the industrial growth that brings million-dollar payrolls and other community benefits? You can help make it possible.

How? Don't you agree that in being a good neighbor to industry and helping industry be a good neighbor too, this congenial climate is born? For without it, can we really expect the growth that promises our kids real opportunity?

Boost to Russian Arms Is Seen in Eased Trade

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A Defense Department expert said today America's allies are giving Russia a three-to-five-year boost in its war-making potential by selling the Soviets strategic machine tools.

John Williams, a machine tool specialist, said the Soviet Union ordered 28 large boring machines from a British company at a time when the U.S. Air Force could not get enough of the machines to meet its own production requirements.

He testified before the Senate Permanent Investigating Subcommittee which is investigating why the United States approved a 15-nation decision in 1954 to permit the West to ship more vital goods to the Reds.

Williams said he protested the agreement. He said it allows the Communists to concentrate on the production of arms rather than divert manpower to the development and manufacture of machine tools.

Lavern J. Duffy, a subcommittee investigator, testified that British shipments to Russia of machine tools, power generating equipment and other machinery rose from $338,000 in the first half of 1954 to $10,563,884 in the last six months of 1955.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) commented that "what we are really doing is approving the buildup of the Communist war machine" while the administration reduces American defense funds.

Williams' appearance was something of a victory for the subcommittee since the Defense Department had balked previously at letting him testify publicly.

But the senators promptly ran into another roadblock. Robert M. Penoyer, a Defense Department attorney, refused to let Williams testify about the 1954 agreement or list the decontrolled items. He said this was classified material.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) charged, "The Russians know what items were decontrolled. There is no reason on God's earth why Congress and the American people couldn't know." The subcommittee said the Commerce Department actually had published the list.

Subcommittee chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said, "This committee is determined to find out what Congress needs to know." He said the subject would be discussed at a closed meeting later.

Belief Ike To Run Grows as He Hunts Anew

President might play golf Friday. White House Press Secretary Hagerty replied: "Could be."

For the first time since he suffered his heart attack in Denver last Sept. 24, Ike put in a full day of rather strenuous recreation Thursday.

Armed with a 20-gauge double-barreled shotgun, he climbed aboard a hunting wagon with Humphrey at 9 a.m., on a warm, sunny morning and took off into the forests, dismounting from time to time to tramp after the birds.

RETURN TO HUNT
They were out three hours and bagged six quail, returning to the plantation house for lunch and a rest. They went back afield at 2:30 p.m. and stayed out until 5:30 p.m.

Hagerty said later that the day's bag was 12 quail for the President and eight for Humphrey. Their first Wednesday afternoon had produced no birds.

The Chief Executive also did some work. He authorized a reserve manpower pool of executives and pondered whether to sign the controversial natural gas bill.

While the President was banging away at quail, Hagerty was warding off a barrage of "second term" questions from White House correspondents at his afternoon press conference in the Scott Hotel.

Someone asked the press secretary if he had discussed the second term question with Ike recently.

"You know very well I will not answer that," Hagerty shot back. Asked if the President is "preparing an announcement," Hagerty said that, until Eisenhower publicly makes known his decision, "I have nothing to say."

And he repeated that Ike has said he will have a decision by the end of this month.

The belief that the President will make up his mind in the south Georgia piney woods whether to run for a second term in the White House seems to be increasing here.

Most members of the unusually large White House press contingent here believe Ike will run again. Their opinions are based on a great deal on the medical fitness report Eisenhower received before he left Washington.

A poll of the Washington reporters here showed 16 of them believe Eisenhower will run for reelection while only four think he will not run.

This was in sharp contrast to a similar poll taken Jan. 8, at Key West, Fla., when the President was vacationing there. At that time only three of the correspondents thought Ike would run again while 11 thought he would not.

The President's campaign-like trip from Spence Air Force Base here Wednesday and his hunting activity at Milestone Plantation have strengthened that belief.

If in the quiet of the woods and fields the President shapes his momentous decision, it will not be the first time that the course of the nation's history has been shaped at Thomaskville.

President McKinley's campaign strategy was drafted here in 1896 when he was the Thomasville guest of Mark Hanna, influential Ohio Republican leader, at Hanna's winter home.

There is some degree of parallel. Hanna had tapped William McKinley to be the GOP nominee. And now Eisenhower is the house guest of George M. Humphrey of Cleveland, who headed the Hanna Coal and Steel Co., when Ike picked him for secretary of the Treasury.

Humphrey is regarded as one of Eisenhower's closest advisers and could influence the President's decision.

Before the two men started out on a second day of quail hunting Thursday, the Chief Executive attended to some important business.

He signed the executive order creating a reserve manpower pool of executives to serve the nation in time of emergency.

The order establishes a National Defense Executive Reserve composed of persons selected from the civilian economy and from the government.

These men and women in key executive positions would be called into government service in event of a general mobilization. Arthur S. Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, will be in charge of the recruitment and training of such executives.

Announcing the order, Hagerty said the executives will be trained for service mainly in the Departments of Defense, Commerce, Interior and Labor.

Hagerty said Flemming told him he hopes to establish an executive reserve of 3,000 to 4,000 individuals.

They would come from many branches of society but the government is primarily interested in executives in communications, transportation and labor organizations, Hagerty said.

The White House made one other announcement here—the acceptance by the President of the resignation of Assistant Secretary of State Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky.

Morton's letter of resignation said it was his intention to return to Kentucky and seek the Republican nomination for U.S. senator.

Caller Threatens Housing Official

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—The manager of a city-owned limited income housing project here said today that an anonymous telephone caller had threatened to "take care of him" if he allowed any more Negro families to move into the project.

Henry E. Wrobel said the caller told him he represented a "group of people who have a large interest in property around the project and weren't going to see it destroyed by Negroes."

Wrobel said 20 Negro families have moved into 750-family Griffon Manor. He said most of them came from another project, Hyde Park, which is being demolished.

At Hyde Park, there are 69 more Negro families who must be out by June 30, said Wrobel. He said if they meet the requirements at Griffon Manor they would be admitted.

U.S. Halts Tank Shipments To Arab After Criticism

Eban, promptly denounced the tank shipment as a "regrettable departure" from the United States policy of maintaining a power balance between Arabs and Israelis.

He complained of a "certain disparity" in treatment. "We do not think shipment of tanks to Saudi Arabia contributes to relief of tension in the Middle East," Eban declared.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) declared during an hour-long Senate discussion that Secretary of State Dulles "should be brought before the Foreign Relations Committee without delay to explain this whole matter."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said the United States "has deplored the arms race in the Middle East and indicated strong opposition to the arms sale to Egypt" by Communist Czechoslovakia.

But now, he contended, "We have lost any moral grounds whatever to try to hold down the arms race."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) joined in a demand that the vessel's sailing be held up. Criticism of the tank transfer also was voiced on the floor by Senators Symington (D-Mo) and Lehman (D-NY).

Great Britain, embroiled in a dispute with Saudi Arabia over the Buraimi oases, was said to be unhappy, too. The British did, however, receive advance information about the tank shipment, along with the French government, officials said.

The tanks are M41 Walker Bulldog. This is the standard light tank of the United States Army, developed after World War II and used mainly for reconnaissance.

Lincoln White, State department press officer, confirmed press reports of the shipment. The order was placed last June, he said.

Diplomats Find Sure Cheers for Capital Visitors

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The State Department has finally figured out how to get the sidewalks crowded with applauding, waving onlookers when important visitors drive into town from the airport.

Instead of having the visitors arrive around 4 p.m., as was usual in the past, they're being brought in around noon, when possible.

When employees are let out early to greet late afternoon arrivals they usually just go home to beat the rush hour traffic.

Dear Rog: He Made It

It was the kind of a day that began with a telephone call.

"This is Johnny Temple." This was the cheery voice of the second baseman of the Cincinnati Redlegs. "I stopped off on my way to spring training and I just thought I'd call you up."

This is the little package that Rogers Hornsby said wasn't for the major leagues because he probably wouldn't hit.

"But he hit .400 once in the minor leagues," said a mild contestant.

"Why, you dumb dirty word," Hornsby said, "that was in a dirty word class C league. A lot of dirty words hit .400 in the dirty word bushes."

It is true that Temple is not another Hornsby. He hasn't the colorful vocabulary in the first place. But Cincinnati figures it is as well protected at second as any team in the National League, and this is going a long way for a kid from Reeds Crossroads, N.C.

"We were as good as any team in the league the last two months of the season," Johnny said. "Johnny Klippstein won eight out of 10. Art Fowler started off about 1.5. He wound up 11-10, so he had a hot finish. And if this Charley Babe is half as good as they say he is over around Columbia, S.C.—that's where I spent the winter—he ought to win 30. We got Hal Jeffcoat for relief. The way that looks I don't see why we can't finish second."

"That Fowler is a good pitcher. He was pressing too hard early in the season. I think he could smell another bonus. If we could have got a few runs for him after he settled down, he could have won 15."

"I wasn't helping any pitchers myself the start of the year. I went five-for-67 and still finished at .285. I got awful tired the last part. I started off weighing 160 and wound up at 149. Now I'm starting at 175. I might even turn out to be a power hitter this year. Kluszewski's probably been worrying about me all winter."

Strip Show at Georgia Tech

A little after noon there was a strip show out at Georgia Tech. Inside the big orange mushroom that's to be Alexander Coliseum some workmen and a crane were removing the backbone of the framework.

A lot of people were standing around as if they expected the big orange upside-down saucer to collapse. The workmen seemed to be pretty sure of themselves. The supporting pole came out. And nothing happened, except basketball took another forward step in Georgia.

Just a few nights before, Georgia Tech had said an unseasonal farewell to the old gym in use as a basketball home since 1939. The Jackets appeared to be so elated over the event that they shot a new scoring record against Louisiana State. Then Bobby Kimmel cut down one of the slightly angled nets and presented it to Coach Whack Hyder for his trophy room, in which already hangs two stuffed Kentucky Wildcats.

It is perhaps a notable achievement that the game was played without the assistance of a student from Indiana. Within the past few seasons two SEC teams hardly ever took the floor without an abundance of imported Hoosier beef on the hoof. Recruiters had to go to Indiana to get the boys to keep up with the mob, and LSU at one time was noted as the Baton Rouge branch of New Albany, Ind., High School.

It is true that only two Georgia and four Louisiana natives were at work Monday night. But both schools have been moving closer home for talent.

Eduardo Gets a New String

Late in the evening, as the spirit wound down, two pugilists walked to the center of the television screen, took a bow and then attacked one another viciously for 10 furious rounds.

One, Eduardo Lausse, a fugitive from Juan Peron, had not lost in 32 fights. Next time he fights he can start on a new string, for the other, Bobby Boyd, took him and he was impressive doing it.

Lausse (pronounced Louisy) definitely was not. He worked a good left hook overtime. He pursued his man until his tongue was hanging out, but the poor chap was short on reach, height, and strength. Once he had Boyd on the deck, but it was as much a slip as a blow. The referee, Frank Sikora, insisted Boyd take the full eight count, however.

This was one of those fights in which the two employees came to work for their money. Lausse frequently took out after Boyd like an irritated bantam and Boyd slipped away from him like a greased meatball. On other occasions they became so hopelessly entangled they looked like one of those wire puzzles.

In the end it was truly Boyd who looked like the man most eligible for advancement. He is a young, strong buck who on one evening's work looked more fearful than Bobo Olson has looked his last few times out. This, then, could be the next champion of the middleweights. And so to bed.

Russell, Decatur, Rome, Dalton Gain Semifinals in 4-AA Meet

ROME, Feb. 16 — Unranked Rossville, which hadn't won a league game all season, figuratively scared the pants off Rome players and fans alike here Thursday night before falling, 42-40, in the Region 4-AA basketball tournament.

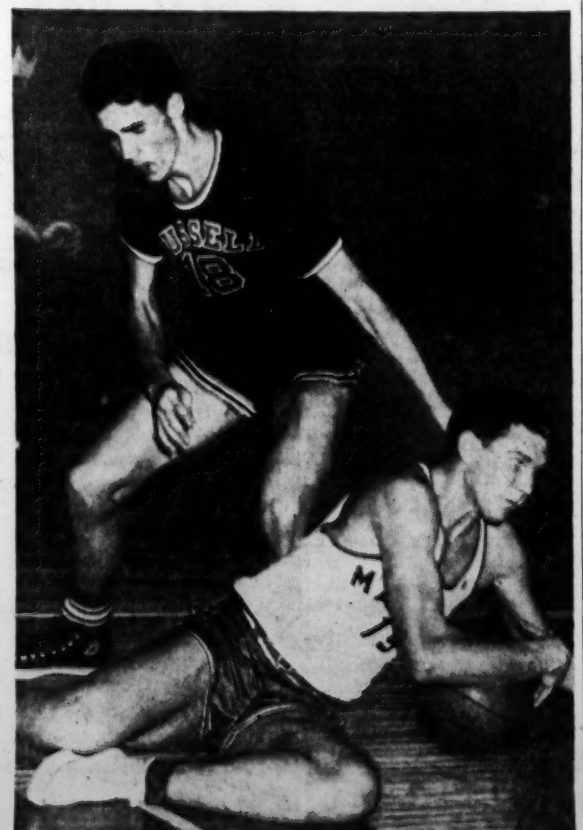

Earlier, Russell's Wildcats assured themselves a shot at their own state AA crown in the Constitution-sponsored tournament in Atlanta next week with a 43-30 victory over Marietta.

Dalton, rated No. 2 in pre-meet pairings, subdued Griffin, 54-41, and third-ranked Decatur edged Cedartown, 55-50. In Friday's semifinals, Decatur tackles Dalton at 7:30 p.m. and Russell meets Rome at 9.

Hugging the ropes after three rounds with the Bulldogs, fourth-seeded Rome surged in the last quarter to keep the tourney's seedings intact.

Guard Earl Skene, who hadn't scored all night, sank seven points in the last quarter to pull the Hilltoppers' bacon out of the fire.

With 6-5 Emmett Wilson firing an unorthodox hook and Ray Waller connecting on one-handers, Rossville earned a 30-27 lead after three quarters, but couldn't hold it in the last. Rome's attack was slowed considerably when starter Hugh Green went out with a sprained ankle after three minutes, and he may not

Tech Overtime Fire Fells Georgia, 72-68

Bulldogs' Ensley and Gleaton Team for 44 in Wild Clash

By LARRY FOX
Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS, Feb. 16—Georgia Tech caught Georgia at the far turn and won going away in the stretch Thursday night, beating the Bulldogs, 72-68, in a thrilling overtime game.

The game in Woodruff Hall did not count in the Southeastern Conference standings, but what a battle it was!

Georgia led at one time in the first half by 11 points, only to see the Yellow Jackets whittle away at the margin and go into the last 15 seconds of regulation play with a 62-60 lead. It was here that Ray Allen, who hadn't hit a thing all night, stepped up and sank two free throws to draw the Bulldogs even in regular time.

The pressure was so great when Allen made his shots that officials had to halt the game for almost five minutes to get fans back into the stands.

The overtime was almost an anti-climax and the Yellow Jackets scored six straight points midway in the five-minute period to wrap it up.

The story of the game must be written in equal parts of Georgia Tech's great comeback and a tremendous personal effort by Georgia's Bill Ensley.

Ensley played one of his greatest games, leading both teams in scoring and rebounding as he went the 40-minute route. The husky junior from Chatsworth scored 24 points for the night and pulled down 25 rebounds, by far the season's high for a Bulldog.

He got help, too, from Curtis Gleaton, whose deadly one-hander accounted for 20 points.

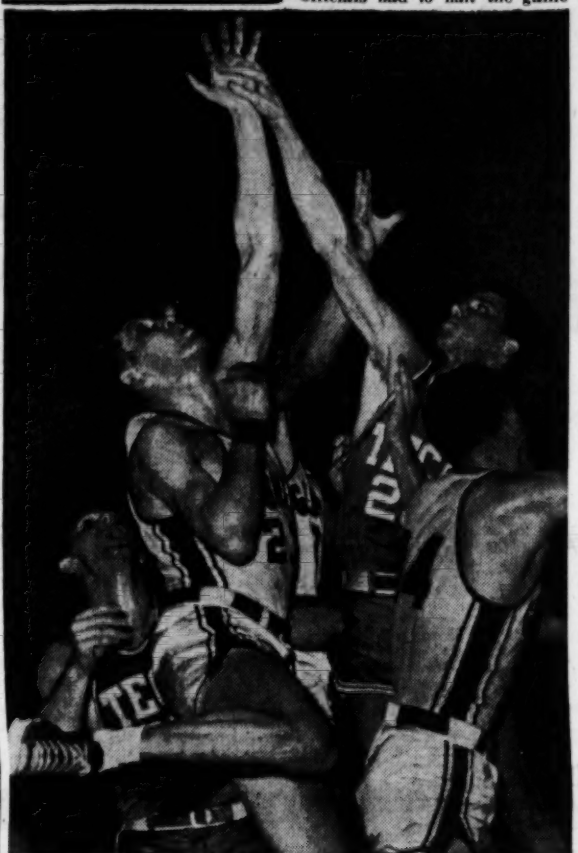

But Georgia Tech made it all up in one five-minute stretch of the second half. The Bulldogs led, 46-33, at the half and extended their margin to 49-40 before Tech hit its first field goal of the second period with 6:20 gone.

That was a driving lay-up by Joe Helms, who was fouled on the play and converted the free throw. Bill Cohen hit two straight jump shots for the Jackets to close the gap to 49-47, and after Gleaton made a push shot for the Bulldogs, Helms and Bobby Kimmel popped in field goals to give the Jackets their first tie since the early going, 51-51. Time was 11:20.

Next tie in the thrilling finish was at 55-55 and again with just under four minutes to play at 59-59. Ensley made a free throw to give Georgia a one-point lead with 3:27 remaining and after both sides missed free-throw attempts, Kimmel drove through to put Tech in the lead. There were only 19 seconds to play when the Tech captain drove in for a lay-up, was fouled and hit the free throw. But four seconds later, Allen made the equalizer from the foul line and the overtime period was under way.

In the overtime Helms and Allen traded baskets before a field goal by Helms, two free throws by Bill Cohen and a jump shot by Kimmel gave the Jackets a 70-64 lead with 1:20 to go. Georgia just couldn't close the gap.

Helms was high scorer for Tech with 23 points, followed by Kimmel with 15, Bill Cohen with 14 and Lenny Cohen with 10. Dinwiddie was the only other Bulldog in double figures with 12, and he was handicapped by drawing his fourth

Pels Grab Verble From Seattle Club

Compiled From Wire Reports

Gene Verble, who played on pennant winning teams at Atlanta and Chattanooga, is returning to the Southern Association as a member of the New Orleans Pels.

General Manager Vince Rizzo announced Thursday that the Pels had obtained Verble from Seattle in a trade that sent infielder Jack Lohrke to the Coast League club.

The 28-year-old Verble, who jumped to the Washington Senators after starring on Atlanta's 1950 Southern champs, will play either shortstop or second base for the Pels.

MORE BASEBALL—Robin Roberts signed in excess of $50,000 with the Philadelphia Phils, making him one of the highest paid pitchers of all time. Roberts received an estimated $42,500 last year when he won 23 and lost 14 for the fourth-place Phils. Proof that Roberts earned a raise is offered by these statistics: He was the workhorse of the loop, hurling 305 innings in 41 games, with 26 completed games; he had an ERA of 2.28, struck out 160 and walked only 53. . . . After getting Roberts in the fold, the Phils heard some more encouraging news from Clearwater, Fla. Pitching coach Whitlow Wyatt, former Atlanta Cracker manager, watched Curt Simmons cut loose and reported the star southpaw's ailing arm seemed to be all right.

Two other players signing 1956 contracts were Johnny Logan, Milwaukee Infielder, and Bill Henry, Boston Red Sox pitcher.

FOOTBALL—TV football fans will be served virtually the same college menu by the NCAA next season. Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, announced that eight national telecasts and five district showings will be offered. . . . Rain interrupted Auburn spring football practice for the second day in a row, and candidates moved indoors for a blackboard session.

Camby's Doc Gets $5,000 in Verdict

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—A Supreme Court jury today awarded $5,000 to Dr. Samuel Shenkman in his $9,500 suit against Roy Campanella, catcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, for an operation performed on the ballplayer's left hand.

The jury of 11 men and one woman deliberated for approximately 2½ hours before returning its verdict in favor of the neurosurgeon. Justice Owen McGovern denied a motion to set the verdict aside. Resisting the suit, Campanella claimed the fee was excessive and that the surgeon never named the $9,500 price in discussions which took place prior to the operation on Oct. 20, 1954.

FOES BEWARE: 'HEALTHY' SAVANNAHANS BRING HIGH JUMPERS TO STATE MEET

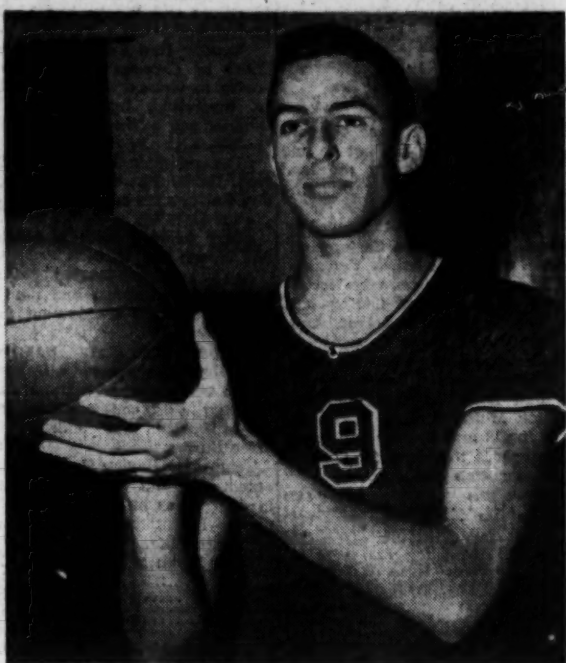

By MORT PERSKY

SAVANNAH, Feb. 16—That was a crippled Savannah High ball club that ripped through two Atlanta teams on a recent visit to the state capital. It will be a whole and sound one that returns next week for the Constitution-sponsored state AA boys' tournament.

But, for the benefit of the unbelieving, it must be admitted Coach Ralph Hamilton's men were crippled only in a minor way. They had their big three-forward Carlos Mobley, center Walt Rabhan and guard Gary Allen—not only intact but firing on all cylinders.

And Jimmy Harris, the 5-8 former B-teamer who usurped Bobbie Thompson's starting berth early in the year, was untroubled by the hostile crowds. He did more than 20 points of dirty work on the two nights.

It would be dangerous, however, to overlook the fact that Savannahans Nos. 5 and 6 were (A) on the bench with a waning virus, and (B) at home with a virulent virus. Neal Perkins

"ONLY" 6-4, SO THIS FELLOW IS A JUMPER

Savannah Center Walt Rabhan Is State High Jump Champ

(A) is a 6-1 forward starter when in good health, and Robbie Thompson (B) is a 6-1 top art, didn't make the trip because of sickness in his family, and it is significant that Taz Anderson wasn't in Hamilton's entourage either. Taz is 6-4, and he was around early in the season thinking he might sooner or later come in handy.

But the man ahead of him, Walt Rabhan, is 6-4 and holds the state AA high-jumping championship to boot. Anderson, an all-state football and with more meat anchoring his bones to the floor, got to play so little he dropped out.

To those who will have to contend with Savannah at the backboards in the tournament next week, no piece of information can be more discouraging than identification of Georgia's other high jump champ.

That would be Carlos Mobley, 6-2 forward who drives in close for most of his points and gets 'em in abundance.

Gary Allen, 6-0, doesn't need to get in close. He can score with a minimum of damage to the rim from almost anywhere on his side of the court. And he does it on one-hand pushes, two-hand jumps, overhead jumps and, in short, in the way you least expect next.

Hamilton's other subs are Herb Lamb, Everett Craft, Walter Langston and Edgar McGee.

Fetchick Tops Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 16—Big Mike Fetchick, a moderate money winner but seeking his first championship along the winter golf trail, hewed a 9-under-par 63 today to take the first round lead in the $20,000 Texas open.

Manuel De La Torre of Milwaukee, who hasn't won a dime on the winter tour and who had to shoot a qualifying score to get into the tournament, came in with a 66 to hold second place in the field of 157 to make it a day of the "unknowns."

AGA Inter-Club Loop Opens Play April 22

By BERT PRATHER

The Atlanta Golf Association's Inter-Club League streamlined to a six match, once a month schedule, will officially open Sunday April 22 at East Lake Country Club.

Each member club will be permitted to start six men with the low four counting. All play will be at medal.

There will be three prizes for low individuals in each of the six matches. The low team on each of the six play days will also receive awards.

The big trophy, of course, will go to the winning team at season's end. This trophy will be presented at a banquet which will follow the season's finale at Druid Hills Golf Club September 9.

Although all AGA clubs are expected to compete, playing sites will be restricted to East Lake, Capital City Country Club, Standard Town and Country Club, Peachtree Golf Club, Meadowbrook Country Club and Druid Hills.

John Maher is new Inter-Club chairman. Committee members are Tommy Barnes, Druid Hills; Pete Barnes, East Lake; Elliott Haas, Standard; Cortez Suttles, Meadowbrook; Ray Taylor, Capital City; Buddy Taulman, Peachtree; AGA proxy Russell Gill and J. D. Croxton, Bobby Jones course.

The schedule: April 22—East Lake Country Club; May 21—Capital City Country Club; June 20—Standard Town and Country Club; July 19—Peachtree Golf Club; Aug. 16—Meadowbrook Country Club; Sept. 19—Druid Hills Golf Club.

Bulldogs Will Give Strumke Trial Run at Halfback Post

By LARRY FOX

ATHENS, Feb. 16—Bill Strumke, one of the stars in Georgia's freshman victory over Tech last fall as a fullback, will get a trial at halfback when the Bulldogs open spring practice this year.

Which side the Peekskill, N.Y., sophomore-to-be takes is still undetermined, but assistant coach Sterling Dupree feels Strumke has the stuff to make the grade as a halfback.

"We feel that Knox Culpepper and Wilbur Lofton ought to be able to take care of fullback all right next year," Dupree said Thursday, "and since we've got plenty of other help at that position, we've decided to make Strumke a halfback. He's fast enough to make the switch."

BILL STRUMKE

Fullback Turns Halfback

Strumke, an all-around high school athlete, has been clocked in 10.3 for the hundred and his best (185-200) will help out in blocking chores and on defense. Last year's starters at the halfback for the Tech game were J. B. Davis at 155 and Jimmy Orr at 178.

Fullback, which lost only Bobby Garrard of last year's eleven, is one of Georgia's best stocked positions. Culpepper and Lofton head the returnees. Then, there's Bobby Ruark, a varsity man who did not earn a letter, and B-team graduates Theron Sapp and Mickey Kowalczyk. And off the freshman team are Cicero Lucas and Mel Borum, both fine prospects. As a senior and because of practice teaching Culpepper will miss spring drills as will Kowalczyk, who will be out for baseball.

With the wealth of fullbacks, it's certain that Gene Littleton of Moultrie, who came to Georgia as a line-buster, will remain at halfback, where he starred last season.

Only other positive position change has Lindsey Bass, a big end from Tifton held out last season as a sophomore, moving to tackle. There's also an outside shot he may get a trial at center along with Richard Price, who played end for the Bulldogs last fall.

The need for center support is pointed up by the fact that Billy Carrollton, last year's No. 2 man, may not return to school for his final year of eligibility. Carrollton, a service veteran from Monroe, gets his degree in June and will probably pass up his final season of football. He's 25 years old now.

Otherwise, along the line, the Bulldogs are set with returning seniors like ends Laneair Roberts and Roy Wilkins, tackles John Luck and Pud Mosteller and guards Wayne Dye and Tony Cushmanberry. The top centers will probably be last year's starter, Jimmy Brown, and B-team graduate Harold Deen Cook, regular center here as a freshman.

Except for fullback, where the lines are pretty well drawn, the backfield remains fluid. Halfback has already been mentioned and at quarterback you can take your choice in the early line among little-used juniors Billy Hearn and Joe Comfort, junior college graduate Ken Shulte and some sophomores who showed flashes of fine play last season. Gene Nunley, Charley Byars and Bob Martin. Then, too, there's Al Bishop, the serviceman, who will miss spring practice but whose return this fall is eagerly awaited.

Fullmer Pick Over Turner

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Gene Fullmer, fresh from an upset victory over Rocky Castellani, is an 8-to-5 favorite to whip Gil Turner Friday night in the "rubber" match of their rivalry at Madison Square Garden.

Quite aside from the normal desire to continue his drive toward a higher ranking, Fullmer has the added incentive of facing the man who handed him his first defeat.

Fullmer was riding along on a 29-fight winning streak when he ran into Turner last April 4 at Eastern Parkway in Brooklyn and dropped a decision in 10 rounds. He got even with Turner on June 20 in Salt Lake City. Later in 1955, the "Cyclone" from West Jordan, Utah, lost to Bobby Boyd and Eduardo Lausse, the two men who staged such a sensational scarp Wednesday night in Chicago.

The "big win" in Fullmer's 36-fight career was his decision over Castellani at Cleveland, Jan. 4.

As a result of this triumph, Fullmer has started talking of a title shot.

Both men are familiar to the television fans. They will be seen again (NBC), starting at 10 p.m., with the same network carrying a radio version. Two judges and a referee will score the fight by rounds with a supplementary point system.

HE HOOKED BASS CHAMPION —BUT NEVER GOT THE CROWN

By BILL ALLEN
"The saddest words of tongue or pen..."

It might have been that Z. W. Stephenson, Rte. 1, Crescent City, Fla., at age 60 or thereabouts, missed a little portion of angling immortality.

He says he caught a 16-pound, one-ounce largemouth bass in December of 1955, in Crystal Lake.

He says he caught it on one of my favorite plugs—the black casting size Diamond Jim with the silver speckles on it. He could have won the Field and Stream contest, according to Joe W. Fall Jr., who makes the plugs, but he reported the fish too late. There is a lot of prize value connected with winning the Field and Stream contest, as we all know: motors, tackle, savings bonds and so on.

But just catching a 16-pounder would be enough, I guess, for most of us. Someone, I hear by the grapevine, won the contest with a 15-pound, 12-ounce bass, incidentally.

The picture of the fish presented here, with Mr. Stephenson, looks as though he stood a foot or so behind the fish to magnify its size, which was obviously not necessary, as pot-gutted as the fish is.

As to Crystal Lake, there's a

STEPHENSON AND BASS

town by that name down below Marianna, Fla., I believe, and that's 'way cross-state from Mr. Stephenson's home. He lives between Crescent Lake and Lake George—often referred to as "Bass Capital of the World" by Tex L'Argent and those people down there.

Isn't that just like a fisherman? He has two really famous bass lakes in his back yard and yet, he traveled all the way cross-state almost to the gulf after bass. And scored.

"Lo, the fisherman..."
NEW BREEM LIMIT: Fish and Game Commission member Jim O. Bowen of Decatur made a motion asking for removal of the bream limit statewide, except at private pond owner's option. It was a great move, since it is believed the bream does as much as, if not more than, the carp to choke out bass when the bream is under-fished. He was successful, however, in getting the commission to raise daily limit of bream on public waters to 50 this year. The same limit will apply to aggregate panfish strings, but no other limit was raised.

SHORT CASTS: Henry Chanin, Atlanta, won the Ernest Hemingway "Old Man and the Sea" Award at the Palm Beach sailfish tourney for the most outstanding angling feat over three-day period. . . . Chanin also won the top trophy of the Silver Sailfish Derby, the Wichfield. He released no less than 34. . . . Atlanta William P. Rocker won the bass trophy for releasing six sails in a day. . . . The largest bass of the young year reported in Georgia has been taken at Rock Eagle lake by Horace Harper of Eatonton. It weighed 11 pounds, four ounces. . . . Dr. T. H. Wynne, Griffin, got a 6½-pounder last Wednesday. Zahner Reynolds, Atlanta, got a five-pound bass and Tribble Smith, Eatonton, got three smaller ones. . . . All that at Rock Eagle lake! It's almost full again. . . . Carl Bolton of Johnson City, Tenn., passes this one on: Newlywed wife was working feverishly over her line on her first fishing trip with her hubby and when asked if she needed help, she replied: "No, honey, I'm changing corks—this one keeps sinking."

Auburn Links Hopes To Strong Battery

Susce Tops Hurling Corps;
Plainsmen Open March 16

Auburn's baseball machine—sparked by a high voltage battery—swings into its 24-game schedule March 16-17 at Lake Land, Fla., against Florida Southern.

Sixteen scraps counting in the Southeastern Conference chase are included on the slate released by Coach Dick McGowan Thursday.

The Plainsmen also meet intrastate rival Alabama four times during the campaign, but these games do not figure in the league standings.

Four weekend jousts with SEC opponents wind up with Saturday doubleheaders. Such in the case against Georgia March 23-24 at Athens, Tennessee March 30-31 at Auburn, Kentucky April 20-21 at Lexington and Georgia Tech April 27-28 at Auburn.

Pitcher and catcher appeared the Tigers' most solid positions as practice opened Tuesday.

Paul Susce, whose father coaches the Kansas City Athletics and brother hurls for Boston, heads the firing squad. After a brilliant sophomore campaign, Susce slumped last season but appears ready to regain his winning ways this year.

Herbie Pearce, who had a 3-2 record in 1955, Wynnton Overstreet (3-4) and Hugh Bandy (0-2) are returnees from last season's staff. Doyle Fair, a Tiger catcher before entering the service, returns as a pitcher.

Footballers Jimmy Powell and Ruben Finney are back for another shot at the catching job. Newcomers Pat Duke and Gaylord Coan also want it.

Biggest vacancy looms at first base, where no lettermen are found.

Captain Guy Young, who swung a .321 stick last season, and Joe Cobb are eyeing second base. And Alton Shell, a utility infielder, is shooting for shortstop.

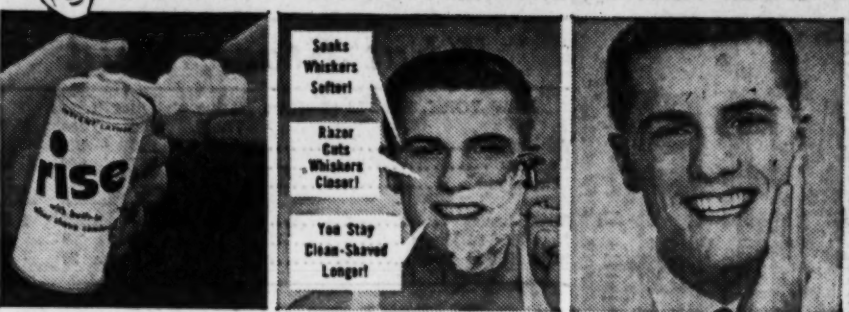

Jack Crouch, a transfer from Stetson, heads the third base brigade.

Gordon Swordsma and Howell Tubbs (who's out for spring football practice now) are outfield veterans. Jack Lanier, who is recovering from a broken arm, also returns.

Other candidates slated for playing time are catchers Pat Duke and Gaylord Coan, infielders Hindman Woll, Jimmy Laster and Billy Ray Roberson and outfielder Jim Tyree.—LOGUE.

LEGION BASEBALL PLANS

Post One's Hayes New Area Chief

Atlanta Post One's Bill Hayes, who has been hard to beat on the field, will try an executive role this season in American Legion junior baseball.

Hayes, who managed the Post One club to a slot in the state tournament last year, has been named to the State Committee for junior baseball.

He will direct the Area 1 program, which includes the Fifth, Seventh and Ninth congressional districts. Hayes, too, will serve as Fifth District officer.

Ed Norris, who assisted Bill with the Post One club last year, takes over the managerial reins. Other members of the state committee are: Ben Chatfield, Macon, who succeeds Dorris Holt as chairman; Abner Hitt, Augusta, Area 3; R. L. Barton, Waycross, Area 4, and H. A. McDonald, Americus, Area 2.

Area winners will compete for the state title and the Georgia champions enter a road having Little World Series as its possible destination.

More than a million boys under 17 years of age will play junior baseball this year. The Peach State alone will send 65 teams into action around June 1. Some 237 major league players last season were graduates of the Legion baseball program.

Smith, Berg Lead Early At St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—Marlynn Smith of Wichita, Kans., putted just right and Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., chipped and putted superbly to shoot five under par 69s to take the lead in the St. Petersburg Women's Open golf tournament today.

Both had identical rounds of 34-35 for the first 18.

Greta Leone of Chicago led the field of amateurs with a 37-37-74. The 72-hole tourney ends Sunday.

PARTY LINE HOGS SQUEAL

New Phone Gadget Stops 'Gabbing' After 5 Mins.

KNIGHTSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 16 (AP)—The party-line hog is threatened with extinction by a new invention. It cuts you off after five minutes of "gabbing."

Loy Thomas, 41-year-old carpenter, decided about five years ago he was tired of having long-winded women monopolize the line when he wanted to use the telephone.

He wrestled with the problem a couple of years, then came up with an alarm clock-type device which hooks into individual circuits. After five minutes of talking the user is cut off automatically and can't make another call for three minutes after that.

Thomas was granted a patent three weeks ago, and now he's waiting for a buyer.

"I have two patent promoters from St. Louis who've asked what I wanted for it," Thomas said. But no real offers have come yet, and he hasn't had a chance to talk to telephone companies which would have to install the gadgets.

"A lot of people would like awful well to have it on their phone," Thomas said—even some of the talkative women he accuses of creating the problem. The only complaint was from a teenage girl, he said.

Thomas made a model of the gadget from alarm clock parts, a solenoid from an auto starter and the motor from a windshield wiper. He used nothing but ordinary household tools.

Ironically, Thomas and his wife, Marie, didn't have a phone of their own until a couple of weeks ago. "I used my mother-in-law's phone all the time," he said.

Thomas didn't say what his mother-in-law thought of the invention. But said Marie:

"Who ever heard of a man shutting up a woman when she wants to talk?"

3 Privates Win 3rd Army Prizes In Photography

Scenes of three different parts of the world have won first place honors in the three categories of the 1956 Third Army Photography Contest. The pictures were taken by three privates.

Pfc. Lindsey L. McElwee of Fort Jackson, S.C., took first place in the black-and-white division with his "The Woolworth Building."

"Sand Dune" by Pvt. William F. Waina of Fort Jackson claimed top honors in the color transparency section, and Pvt. Daniel A. Vilensky of Camp Gordon snapped the prize-winning "Craft Shop" in the black-and-white picture series category.

"The Woolworth Building" is a striking up-angle shot of the famous structure in New York surrounded by other tall office buildings.

It Won't Be Easy To View U.S. Satellite

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (UP)—Everyone south of North Philadelphia theoretically will have a chance to see the world's first man-made moon next year. But the theory may not work.

Under the best of conditions, the firing of the artificial earth satellite will not be much of a spectator's show. A viewer will have to be at the right place at the right time when the weather is right. And he will need sharp eyesight or binoculars.

If all of those conditions are right, the satellite-gazer may then see a moving point of light resembling a somewhat dull star.

The satellite will be launched by a three-stage rocket from Patrick Air Force Base, Cocoa, Fla., probably in the summer of 1957. If it stays aloft long enough, it should eventually cover a 5,000-mile-wide band between the 40th parallels.

CUTS CITY
The 40th parallel in the northern hemisphere bisects Philadelphia in the east and runs across the middle of the country to a point about 60 miles south of Eureka, Calif., on the West Coast.

Information on the satellite's orbit and the opportunity for seeing it in action was given by Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the project.

The chances appear dim that the satellite actually will roam the sky over every place in the land where curious citizens might be waiting for a peak at it. Hagen said it would have to hold its orbit "many, many months" to cover the entire belt. Estimates of its lifetime range from two weeks to several months.

Scientists will track the satellite by radio and with optical instruments from ground stations to be specially established for that purpose.

Shining by reflected sunlight as it revolves around the globe from west to east, it should be visible under proper conditions to some amateur watchers as well.

After the satellite is launched, scientists will issue periodic forecasts of its position. The best seeing time will be just before sunrise and just after sunset.

HIGH ORBIT

It will be speeding at 18,000 miles per hour in an orbit varying in height from 200 to 800 miles. It will move from horizon to horizon in 8 to 12 minutes. To spot it, even with binoculars, "will take a little doing," Hagen said.

The United States plans to launch 10 satellites in all. The orbit and specifications of only the first one have been discussed publicly.

Whether any of the later moons will be assigned orbits which might make them visible in the United States has not been decided.

Athens Press Meet To Hear Trade Editor

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION
ATHENS, Feb. 16—Willis Johnson Jr., editor of Southern Banker, Atlanta, will address a dinner of the college editors of the state during the Georgia Press Institute here Friday, Feb. 24, at the Holman Hotel.

Johnson will be heard by representatives of newspapers and yearbooks of junior and senior colleges throughout the state. He will speak on the subject "If I were a College Editor Again."

Voted the "most outstanding male graduate" of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism in 1943, Johnson's undergraduate record included not only editorship of the Red and Black but the presidency of ODK and membership in Sigma Delta Chi, Varsity Debate Team, Gridiron, Chi Phi, Bittad and University Theater, of which he was promotion manager.

Born in West Point, Johnson was associated with his high school paper and was an announcer, copy writer and control room operator for a local radio station.

Johnson has been with Southern Banker since 1946, with the exception of absences for military duty. He has been editor since 1949.

Union Labor Issue Slows Court Paving

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Paving and other ground improvements at the $600,000 new city traffic court building now nearing completion will be delayed to avoid the prospect of a work stoppage over a labor dispute.

The aldermanic board's public works committee Thursday held up award of the contract to the low bidder, Neel Contracting Co., at $14,665 pending completion of construction, Ald. Jesse Draper, committee chairman, said.

Action followed a conference with Mayor Hartsfield and reports that the Neel company is not "completely unionized," while the J. A. Jones Construction Co. erecting the building is union. Concern was expressed that union members might refuse to work on the same project at the same time with non-union workmen.

The new court building is being erected on Trinity Avenue, SW, across Trinity avenue from the City Hall.

Draper and Land Agent Harry Andrews issued a joint statement warning that the committee will frown on paying "excessive amounts" for right of way purchases for traffic improvements.

"We are doing our very best to hold costs down so that the public will get full value for any outlays made," Draper said.

The committee withheld approval of several land purchases and ordered new efforts to negotiate agreements. The reason assigned was that the asking price was believed to be excessive.

The committee approved contracts for four street resurfacing projects costing $150,000 and eight baby bond street paving projects costing $56,000.

Andrews announced he plans to have all right of way for extension of Ashby street, SW, from Lee to White streets by the March 1 committee session and said if he fails he will ask that condemnation proceedings be started to acquire any tracts still remaining. The committee approved purchase of $87,180 worth of property for the downtown expressway connector and the Ashby street extension.

Gen. Philip F. Lindeman

Reserve Act Hailed by Lindeman

The Army's Reserve Affairs chief had high praise for the 1955 Reserve Forces Act on his arrival here Thursday for a day's visit to Third Army Headquarters and Atlanta reserve units.

Brig. Gen. Philip F. Lindeman, after a conference with Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, Third Army commander, told newsmen the act "for the first time gives young men a chance to plan their futures voluntarily."

The general said the law was "tied in very closely with the ideal of having and maintaining first class reserve units in which young men would be able to sustain the vigor and enthusiasm of their six-month active duty periods."

Lindeman, who will visit the Atlanta General Depot and Georgia Military District headquarters, cited older active reserve officers for their "splendid job in making the reserve program go."

The general is scheduled to return to Washington at 12:50 p.m. Friday.

June-Clad 'Hikers' Put Law on Prankster Hunt

It appeared that spring had sprung in Atlanta Thursday.

And police were searching for the June-in-February pranksters whose antics caused youthful drivers to pause and stare along Bankhead avenue, near West Lake drive.

Two scantily clad young women appeared on Bankhead, which eventually becomes heavily traveled Highway 78. They stood nonchalantly beside a parked truck.

One wore red plaid shorts very, very short, boots and a hat that shadowed youthful features. The other had on a bathing suit and knit sweater.

One held up a hand in the familiar hitch-hike style. A youth driving past skidded to a stop, smiled and opened the car door.

The young women fixed him with a wooden stare.

Reluctantly he drove away. Others stopped. As traffic began backing up, Ptl. D. R. Turner and L. F. Harris arrived.

Last of 3rd Ave. El Structure Is Wrecked in N.Y.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Two pillars and a cross-piece, weighing 20 tons were pulled down today and with them departed the last trace in Manhattan of the old Third Ave. Elevated.

About 3,000 persons looked on as the 78-year-old El vanished into memory at a ceremony at 42nd St. Demolition began last Aug. 3 from the Bowery to 129th Street.

Manhattan Borough President Hulan E. Jack presided over the ceremony. He was confronted by an elderly unidentified man who demanded loudly and querulously:

"Where the hell is the Second Ave. subway they've been promising us for 20 years?" Jack smiled but kept silent. Demand for the new subway has been heightened by abolition of the old El.

Ike To Run, State Solons In D.C. Say

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

Constitution Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—Georgia's congressional delegation is of the opinion that President Eisenhower, now vacationing in their home state, will run again.

The Constitution polled the Georgia delegation today on how members feel about his plans. Only two said they believe he will not be a candidate for reelection.

PILCHER, BLITCH SAY NO

These were Reps. J. L. Pilcher of Meigs, who serves the district where the President is now visiting and Iris Blitch of Homerville, Georgia's only woman member.

Eight others available for comment said they thought he will run.

Sen. George said he has believed the President would be a candidate for reelection since Christmas.

"Before that," he said, "I was inclined to think he would not. But since then I have formed the conclusion that he would run. I make this estimate on the basis of some of the reports and recommendations he has submitted to Congress."

VINSON A FLAT "YES"

Rep. Vinson of Milledgeville, dean of the delegation and credited with being one of the wisest political heads in Congress, asked to be put down with a flat "Yes, he will run."

Another veteran Georgia member, Rep. Brown of Elberton, said he had not thought the President would be a candidate until the report of his doctors was made known this week.

"The favorable way that report was made has now inclined me to believe he will be a candidate," Brown said. "Before that I had felt he would not run."

A similar view was taken by Rep. Davis of Stone Mountain.

"WAY BEING PREPARED"

"After reading the medical report I am beginning to feel that he will be a candidate," Davis said. "I had felt a little the other way before. It looks like the way is being prepared for him to run."

Other Georgia members who believe the President will be a candidate are Rep. Lanham of Rome, Landrum of Jasper, Forrester of Leesburg, and Flynt of Griffin.

Pilcher said he had never thought the President would run after the heart attack he suffered last September at Denver. "I have had no reason to change my mind since then," he asserted.

Mrs. Blitch said she gained the impression the President would decide against a second term in her first meeting with him last spring. "I am more convinced than ever now in view of his heart condition," she said, "and I haven't changed my mind since the favorable medical report was published."

Sen. Russell and Rep. Preston of Statesboro could not be reached for comment.

Accused in Theft Of U.S. Linens

Melvin Eugene Stroud, 30-year-old Negro of 1544 Kerry Dr., SW, was arrested Thursday in connection with the theft of some $400 worth of linens from the GSA's East Point warehouse, the FBI announced.

Jack K. Mumford, FBI agent in charge, said Stroud was arraigned before the U.S. Commissioner on charges of theft of government property and lodged in Fulton Tower in lieu of $4,000 bail.

PTA Units Honoring Founders

By YOLANDE GWIN

It may be a surprise to some, but you don't have to be a parent or a teacher to join the PTA.

But you do have to be 18 or older, and interested in children. This 59-year-old organization last year had a membership of more than nine million.

But the organization wasn't always like this. A lot of the new recruits, especially the mothers and fathers, will be hearing a lot about the PTA as they join with their associates to celebrate the founding of the National PTA Congress which took place Feb. 17, 1897, in Washington, D.C.

TWO REASONS

Here in Georgia the PTAs are whooping it up for two reasons—to celebrate the founding of the national group and also to honor Marietta-born Alice McLellan Birney, who founded the Georgia Congress of PTA in 1906. In 1897, it was Mrs. Birney and Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst of California who founded the national congress.

Yesterday, on the eve of the actual anniversary date, Atlanta's Mrs. Charles Center, one of the PTA generals in its march through the years, said:

"The organization first was for mothers only, the idea conceived by Mrs. Birney. In 1908 the idea that mothers and teachers should discuss school programs and children together resulted in the addition of 'and Parent-Teacher Assn.' to the National Congress of Mothers."

"Then in 1924 the group was opened to fathers, and it became the National Congress of Parents and Teachers."

In Georgia there are 190 men who are presidents of local PTA groups. And what's more, the state president is a man, Knox Walker of Atlanta.

ALMOST DIED

Mrs. Center, who was state president in 1934-1935, said in addition:

"During World War I the PTA almost died. Everybody was doing war work. There were only 200 members in the whole state. But under the leadership of Mrs. John W. Rowlett, the group was kept alive and membership rolls grew."

Based on 1955 figures, the Georgia membership is placed at 192,302. A goal of 200,000 members has been set for this year. Also, a program has been set in motion for the recruitment of teachers in cooperation with the Georgia Chamber of Commerce. A movement also has been launched to build a state headquarters building.

As PTA members review the vast work of this national organization, pertinent facts on Mrs. Birney's dream will be discussed.

It was her dream to build a better world for children.

The first meeting of the Georgia Congress of Mothers was held on May 15, 1906, in Atlanta Woman's Club clubrooms in the Grand Theater building. Mrs. Robert Zahner was the first president.

WHO WILL BE Mardi Gras Queen? These beauties at the top hide their identities behind lace masks, but below they appear as the candidates for the title of Queen of the Mardi Gras Ball who will reign Friday evening at this annual and colorful event. One will be chosen to wear the handsome jeweled crown, shown here. The candidates are Miss Mary Ann Robison, Mrs. John Tyler, Mrs. Emory Schwall, Mrs. Thomas Buttram, Mrs. Francis Sheetz Jr., Mrs. Frank Bristol and Mrs. Trammell McIntyre. The ball, to be held at the Biltmore Hotel, will be sponsored by members of the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee Junior Guild.

Tobe Says

Time To Buy Your Coats for Spring

Yes, it's time to think of a spring coat again, no matter where you live. Come the end of February we're all tired of our winter coats, so a new coat ready in our closets to wear whenever weather permits is such a nice secure feeling!

What kind of spring coat? I find myself torn between a pretty but useful tweed coat that lives a long life or a navy blue or black worsted dressier coat. Yes, I mean similar to that spring coat we used to buy each season but yet it's so different this year.

Set Artist, Ice Star To Hang Skates Here

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Two members of the Holiday on Ice troupe are here to stay.

Set designer Ted Meza and skating star Genevieve Norris, his lovely bride of six months, have decided to make their home here.

Ted has moved his set designing and display studio from New Jersey to a site near the airport in College Park. There he will continue to make the colorful sets that are so effective in the ice show production.

Ted's creations for the ice-rama range from flats to fabulous special props, including the Noah's Ark set, the pink and white winter wonderland sleigh, giant multi-colored sparklers, intricate electrical chandeliers that are jeweled with mirrors and snowmen nine feet tall.

Already he is at work on designs for next year's productions. The finished products will be turned out in his College Park studio.

A skater himself, Ted met petite, red-haired Genevieve Norris when the two were members of the Holiday on Ice troupe in New Jersey. In addition to his work on the sets, Ted was the show's comedian; Genevieve was a featured star.

The alert Mr. Meza quickly discovered the agile skater was also artistically inclined. In fact, she had studied art in college and was a painter.

Genevieve accepted Ted's invitation to visit his studio so she could get acquainted with set-painting.

"The technique is entirely different from any other form of art," Ted explained.

CAUGHT ON QUICK

But Genevieve found she was quite at home in the paint, plastic and plywood world of Ted's studio.

And they discovered their tastes are a great deal alike in numerous ways.

"Our trend of thought is almost identical," Ted said. "Two seasons ago, Ted unlaced his skates for the last time, to confine his workday to set designs and displays. He has not had on a pair of ice skates since, but is much too busy to miss the spotlight."

Ted has a regular crew of 10 men to assist with building the sets. Sometimes he enlists the aid of 30 or more to finish a job.

The Mezas are looking forward to working together on a more personal project.

Their new home will feature functional built-in furniture, created by the man of the house. Ted is also a furniture designer, and while the two are working together on plans for the house, most of the designs will be left strictly in Ted's hands.

A WOMAN'S PLACE

But the kitchen—that's a skate of another blade.

"I have very definite ideas about that particular room," Genevieve said, "including a brick Dutch oven. The kitchen will be completely electric."

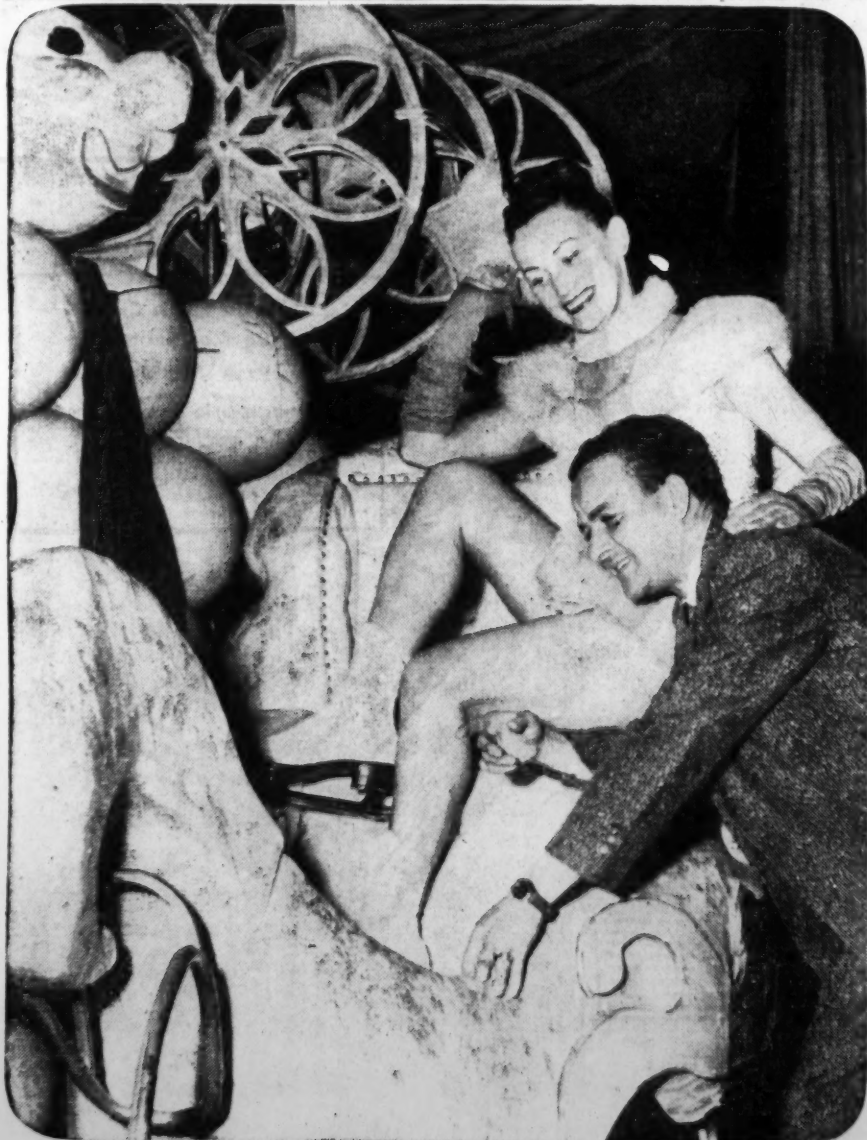

A lot of color will be used throughout the house and plans for a patio have already been completed.

The Meza home and studio is situated on 20 acres of land, which Ted is carefully landscaping, keeping the wooded area in its natural form, removing only the "scrub" trees.

The "queen bee" of the Meza household will have nothing to say about the home furnishings.

"Kismet really rules the roost," Genevieve said, "but she won't interfere with plans for the house. She goes everywhere, anyway."

Kismet is the Mezas' black Persian cat.

Celestine Sibley Confusion Adjourned

The General Assembly packs up and goes home today—and from random comments I've picked up here and there it will be a matter of mutual relief to both citizens and lawmakers.

The legislators are tired. Their eyes hurt from reading and trying to comprehend mountainous stacks of bills. Their stomachs hurt from irregular meals and indigestible snacks consumed at their desks as they work.

And besides that, most of them seem to have missed out on that compensating sense of satisfaction that should come on the heels of 40 days' endeavor. Dissatisfaction over the job they have done is expressed over and over by individual members of the Assembly.

Rep. Hamilton Lokey drew a laugh from a group of his colleagues in the House the other day when he commented on a piece of undesirable legislation by saying:

"Well, it's got to get worse before it gets better." One representative, normally a steady and conscientious member of the body, astounded me by voting both "Yes" and "No" on the same bill. I happened to be looking at him when there was a show of hands and he voted against the bill. A moment later when the sponsor of the bill asked for the ayes and nays and the bell clanged and the big board on the wall lit up like a pinball machine, I noticed the gentleman was voting for the bill. When I asked him about it, he was genuinely astonished. "I guess I'm just punchy," he admitted sheepishly.

It's not unusual to find a man introducing a bill which he hasn't studied. Maybe it's a little more unusual to find a legislator who will admit he is unenlightened about his bill and promptly withdraw his support when he finds out about it. This happens, too.

Still, things are not as bad as they might be, as a story by Rep. Colbert Hawkins of Screven County illustrates.

Rep. Hawkins said the Georgia Review is the source of a story about an English peer who visited the General Assembly back about 1840 when Milledgeville was the capital. He reported that 12 members of the august body could not read or write.

The Englishman was entertained to have been present the day the governor of the state issued invitations to a dinner for members of the Legislature. The invitations arrived and were placed on legislators' desks. The minute they landed a country statesman in the back of the room leaped to his feet, waving his bid to the party, and announced that he would fight to the finish any effort to pass such a damnable piece of legislation.

Personally, I can understand how the countryman felt. I can read pretty good but the big noisy chambers of the House and Senate keep me confused.

YOUR STARS TODAY

Daily Guide—Keep right on the beam all the way today. Do the practical, routine things, which need to be done, and don't scorn the drudgery. There are many days which are just so-so. One makes them count by working, not drifting along.

The long-term aspects of the outer planets are in effect even though there may be no sharp culmination to set off events. The pattern is still in effect, so do your part by filling in the groundwork or background on a day like today.

Happy Birthday, Aquarius! The year ahead is not one to be taken lightly as there are many problems to be solved permanently and new ventures to be thought about and even tried tentatively. What you do now goes deeply and will change the pattern of your life. New cycles begin but cannot make much headway until old problems are solved to free you.

Aquarians like to remain individual and free from entangling alliances. Your relationships with others are very important at this time, but you need not let others dominate you. A more idealistic attitude will be tested this year.

'Picnic' Rated Truly Great, Academy Caliber

In "Picnic," now showing at the Rialto Theater, Columbia Pictures has achieved a rare combination of artistry and entertainment which is certain to place high on the Academy Award nominations Saturday night.

Demonstrating the flexibility of the movies, Joshua Logan has transformed a smash Broadway hit into a truly great motion picture which pulsates with excitement, romance, comedy and human emotions. It is a picture which will appeal to the big-city movie critics and to the once-month moviegoer in the smallest tank town.

The story is, quite frankly, about sex. It tells about a personable, handsome fellow who left a small Kansas town before finishing school. He has become a drifter and he returns home, via a freight train, arriving on Labor Day. Almost immediately his presence is felt in the minds and hearts of the people. At the annual Labor Day picnic he fires the emotion of two women—an old-maid schoolteacher and the prettiest girl in the town.

This story is told with remarkable subtlety, with warmth and feeling, honesty and good taste. It is told amid an atmosphere which is so realistic that the moviegoer feels he can take a sandwich right off the picnic table.

To bring this story to the screen, Logan has chosen a superb cast, headed by William Holden, Kim Novak, Rosalind Russell, Susan Strasberg, Betty Field and Arthur O'Connell.

James Wong Howe, whose cinematography achievements are numerous, has photographed the story with a realism seldom seen on the screen. His camera gives import to the most insignificant scene. Great emotional and wonderful comedy sequences are created through his artistic Cinemascope photography. Logan's keen grasping for the human side of the story is visible everywhere.

Holden portrays the drifter. His physique makes this the best bit of type casting of the year. Miss Novak is the town's beauty and no one can quarrel with that decision. Miss Russell reaches new heights of dramatic expression as the love-starved schoolteacher. O'Connell is the most outstanding actor in the play. He impersonates the shopkeeper whose life is changed at the picnic. Since passion is the keynote of the entire affair, this movie is not suitable for the younger set.

Reviewer's rating: Superb. Adults only.—PAUL JONES. "I'll Cry Tomorrow," a lead-pipe cinch to win several Oscar nominations, opens at Loew's Grand Friday.

Indications are this film will become one of the biggest money-making pictures of the year. Adapted from Lillian Roth's best-seller autobiography, the film play has big heart appeal and it is a picture the distaff moviegoers will relish.

The film is a tour de force of Susan Hayward who hands in her most superlative performance as the screen star who succumbs to the ravages of alcohol and then makes the greatest comeback in showbusiness.

The severity of the drama is broken somewhat by the opening sequences in which Miss Hayward depicts the early career of the singer who reached the top in movie and cabaret circles. The script manages a chuckle here and there as it chronicles her many marriages and romances. The swift pace of the drama and the adroit production insure the utmost interest.

In addition to Miss Hayward, the cast features a number of outstanding personalities. Jo Van Fleet, as Miss Roth's mother; Eddie Albert, as the Alcoholic Anonymous missionary who pulls her from the depths of despair; and later marries her, and Richard Conte as a crazed alcoholic who speeds her excursion on the treadmill, are superlative.

Reviewer's rating: Superb drama. Adult classification. (R. J.)

Britain's incomparable Alec Guinness, one of the most versatile actors alive today, is known to most moviegoers for his whimsical comedy roles.

In "The Prisoner," gripping psychological drama now showing at the Peachtree Art, Guinness demonstrates his power in a serious and demanding new role. He plays a Roman Catholic cardinal arrested and charged with treason in one of the present European "police states."

This picture, recently saluted by New York critics as its premiere there, is a "must" for many reasons, excluding Guinness. The grim story (first done as a play on the British stage) deals with the conflict of men's minds.

Reviewer's rating: Excellent drama. Adult classification. —MARJORY SMITH.

"TEAHOUSE" STAR — Larry Parks portrays the role of Sakini, the roguish interpreter in "Teahouse of the August Moon," Broadway hit which opens Friday at the Tower Theater. Curtain time is 8:20 p.m.

Annie Lou Hardy Atlantans Welcome Springfield Visitors

Visitors arriving yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Crow and Dr. and Mrs. Ray Conrad of Springfield, Mo., who are guests over the weekend of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Holland on Lakeland drive. Mrs. Crow and Mrs. Holland are sisters.

AT THE CABARETS New Show At Grady Solid Hit

Complimenting the over-all good entertainment in cabarets here is the new show in the Paradise Room of the Henry Grady which stars a brilliant new comedian, Johnny Haymer of TV fame.

The new revue consists of three acts—an acrobatic team, the Young Brothers and Sister and Betty Sawyer, dancing star who likewise has earned a wonderful reputation before the video cameras.

Haymer has some smart material and has a natural flair for telling funny stories. He impersonates an English music hall comedian in one of the funniest bits seen in months. Miss Sawyer, a red-head, is talented, youthful and handsomely costumed. She varies her routines with flashing acrobatics, a bull-fight ballet in which she improvises with a red cape and an intricate series of spins and derisives. The Youngs are simply one of the best acrobatic teams anywhere.—(PAUL JONES.)

Power Failure at Miami Blacks Out 75-Mile Strip

Fire Along Gold Coast Hotel Row Adds to Rush Hour Traffic Snarl

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—A major power failure plunged a 75-mile strip of Florida's tourist-crowded "gold coast" into blackness and confusion at sundown tonight.

In the middle of the blackout fire broke out along a group of shop buildings in the heart of Miami Beach's famed hotel row, sending smoke and flames shooting hundreds of feet above Collins avenue.

No injuries were reported from the fire, but combined with the power failure, monstrous traffic jams backed up cars on nearly every major thoroughfare from Palm Beach through the Miami area. The traffic lights weren't working.

WORST SINCE 1926

Power company officials said it was the "worst power failure in south Florida since the 1926 hurricane struck Miami."

M. B. McDonald, vice president of the Florida Power and Light Co., explained the power failure was due to one major transmission line failing west of Miami, followed by another.

This isolated the Cutler power plant south of Miami, the largest in Florida, and shifted the load to four other plants in south Florida.

COMES AT RUSH HOUR

"They just couldn't handle it and circuit breakers began popping all over the place," McDonald said. "Things were really jumping. Frankly, I think the gremlins got hold of us."

The power cutoff ranged from 10 minutes to more than an hour in most of the coastal cities from West Palm Beach to 10 miles south of Miami.

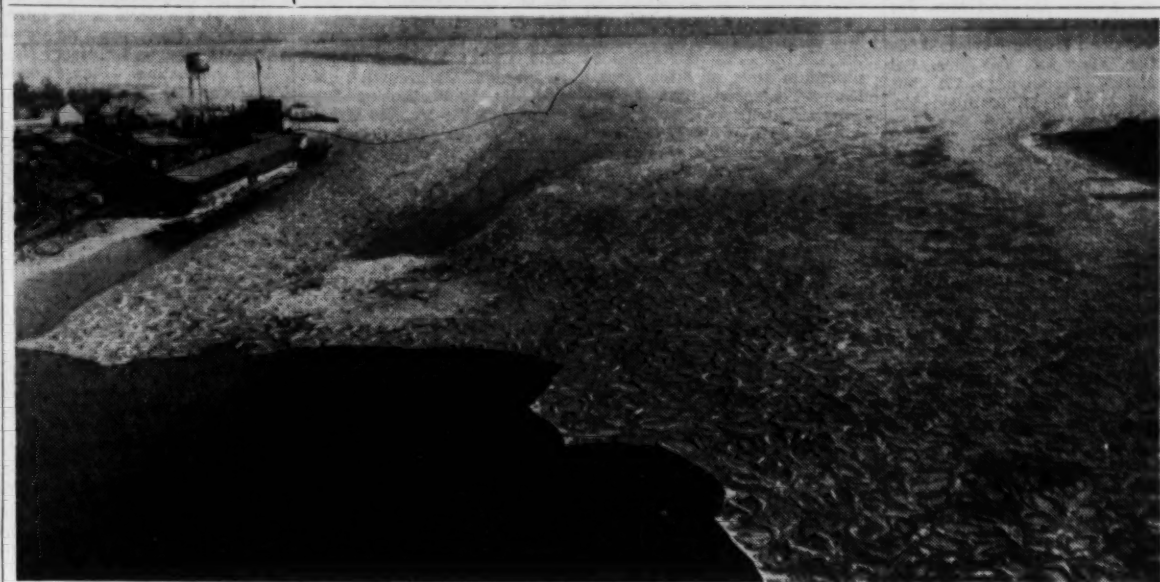

The break came right at the evening rush period—when tourists were returning from the track and beaches, workers from their downtown offices and housewives starting to cook supper.

CAUSE OF FIRE?

There was some indication the power blackout may have helped cause the Miami Beach fire. Firemen said the start of the blaze seemed to center around a big electrical sign near a restaurant and spread quickly to a storehouse in back of a fruit stand.

The roof of the fruit stand, in the middle of the block between 20th and 21st streets on the west side of Collins avenue caved in and an adjacent liquor store was gutted.

WHEN WILL ICE BREAK UP?—PORT HURON, Mich., Feb. 16—Slight movement has been noted in this ice jam in lower Lake Huron, but no major breakup has occurred. Open water is noted in two sections, but the rest of the area is locked tight. Observers hope when the breakup comes it will be gradual. A sudden thaw would send ice flows crashing into the St. Clair River, damaging shore installations.

Asks Union, Electrical Firm Meet

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Federal Mediation Service today invited union and management officials in the 123-day-old Westinghouse strike to meet here Monday "for the purpose of making an all-out effort to effect a settlement of this dispute."

The company, at Pittsburgh, accepted the invitation and pledged "our full cooperation." The International Union of Electrical Workers withheld comment until tomorrow.

Since Oct. 17, 44,000 IUE workers at 30 Westinghouse plants have been out on strike. The Mediation Service entered the dispute a week before the strike started, but pulled out last Friday.

Mediation Director Joseph E. Finnegan, in today's announcement, said David L. Cole of Patterson, N. J., a former director of the Service, and Prof. George W. Taylor of the University of Pennsylvania, would assist Mediation Commissioner John R. Coleman in the new efforts.

Finnegan suggested negotiations be resumed on the basis of his Feb. 4 recommendations. These were that the disputants temporarily lay aside the issue of the company's plan to make time and efficiency studies of its workers.

Supporters of the proposed advertising curb appeared also before the House Commerce Committee, which is considering an identical measure.

Bernard E. Esters, Houlton, Maine, publisher, spoke as chairman of the National Editorial Assn.'s Legislative Committee. He told the Senate committee that 5,500 weekly, semi-weekly and small daily newspapers in his organization oppose the bill because, "We contend that the spirit and intent of this legislation is discriminatory, and that it constitutes an unwarranted intrusion into an orderly and legal process of established businesses and that its enactment could result in a needless and costly dislocation of an accepted routine of commerce and industry."

Mrs. Virginia Ricks

Matron Clear in Death Of Fish Guide Lover

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Feb. 16 (AP)—A jury today acquitted Mrs. Virginia Ricks, daughter of an ex-mayor of Syracuse, N.Y., in the pistol death of George (Tommy) Knapp, a fishing guide, defense counsel, Raydon Hughes, declared:

"I make no apologies for my client in the way she was living on that island or her associations with the late Tommy Knapp."

Knapp, 45, was shot to death Dec. 30 in Mrs. Ricks's island lodge. The crown first charged Mrs. Ricks with murder but later reduced the charge to manslaughter.

The Ontario Supreme Court jury took 2½ hours to reach a verdict.

The four-times-married Mrs. Ricks testified yesterday she threatened Knapp with a pistol and he was shot accidentally as they struggled for possession. She repeated that story under defense questioning today.

In summing up to the jury, the Grandmother, 36, Gives Birth to Her 18th; Her Husband, a Heart Patient, Is Jobless

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Feb. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Herman Burd of near Ona, a 36-year-old grandmother, yesterday gave birth to her 18th child, a daughter.

Burd, 38, a machinist, is unemployed because of ill health.

Seventeen of the children in the family, nine sons and eight daughters, are living. One daughter died.

The eldest child, Mrs. Lillian Seale of Huntington, is 21 and herself the mother of two. Lillian was born shortly before her mother's 15th birthday.

Burd, under treatment for a heart condition since last May, said he didn't know when he would be able to return to work.

He conceded that supporting such a large family is a problem, but said he didn't believe "the Lord ever let a baby be born that he wasn't willing to look after."

The Burds haven't decided on a name for the newest member of the family.

Youth Resembling Missing MIT Pledge Seen Alive, Hitchhiking

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 16 (AP)—A youth resembling Thomas L. Clark, 18, of Harvey, Ill., an MIT freshman missing a week, tonight was reported seen—alive and hitchhiking—as late as yesterday afternoon.

Belmont police quoted Philip Blanchette, a 55-year-old Belmont market owner, as saying he picked up a youth answering Clark's description yesterday at 3:45 p.m. in nearby Wayland and drove him to Cohasset Center.

Authorities said the market owner made his identification from pictures and descriptions seen in newspapers.

Meanwhile, a shoe—tentatively identified as Clark's—and a scarf—believed to be his—were found in Waltham, not far from where the youth was left as part of a fraternity initiation.

Fellow students identified the shoe as one of Clark's and the scarf was sent to the state police barracks at Concord to await identification.

Clark's distraught father, Alfred R. Clark, a telephone company executive watched the searchers for part of the day but returned later to Cambridge police station to wait for news.

The 18-year-old lad and nine other fraternity pledges, were blindfolded and driven to deserted areas in suburban Boston last Thursday night during a Delta Kappa Epsilon initiation.

The boys were let out of a car and told to make their way back to Cambridge in time for the next morning's classes. All but Clark returned.

GEORGIA NEWS ROUNDUP

Paper Upheld in Printing Slaying Victim's Picture

The State Supreme Court has upheld two murder convictions and has denied a new trial in an unsuccessful $25,000 invasion of privacy suit against the Cartersville Tribune-News.

The court said Judge James H. Paschall properly dismissed a Bartow Superior Court suit of a Rome mother.

The woman charged that pictures published and sold by the Tribune-News of her 14-year-old daughter constituted invasion of privacy.

The pictures were made June 25 last year when the girl's body was taken from the Etowah River. Willie Grady Cochran has been sentenced to death for the murder of the girl.

Justice T. Grady Head said the pictures were impossible to identify and that the incident was a matter of public interest and investigation.

In another opinion by Justice Head, the court said Judge Mel Price of the Atlantic Judicial Circuit was correct in his refusal to grant a new trial in the murder conviction of Roscoe L. Joyner.

Joyner was convicted Aug. 4, 1954 and sentenced to die in the electric chair for the knife death of W. N. Turner during a shuffleboard game at a Savannah bar.

The court also upheld Judge Paschall's refusal to grant a new trial for Buck Bagby who was charged with murdering Will Davis.

Bagby was sentenced to life imprisonment after a jury found him guilty and recommended mercy on Oct. 29, 1954.

Davis was found beaten to death beside his car on a country road Sept. 19, 1954.

Rural Press Course

A rural press and public relations short course which officials say will appeal especially to young people interested in journalism will be held on the campus of Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College in Tifton Friday.

Miss Montine Martin, an English teacher at Albany Junior High School, has been named teacher of the year for the Albany-Dougherty County school system. . . . Members of garden clubs in Sanderville will stage their annual camellia show next Sunday. . . . Tift County election officials said a runoff would be necessary between Johnnie Ford and Lee Ball, two top men in a commissioners' race. Wednesday in Tift County. In other races Wednesday, voters returned all incumbents to office.

Dies in Flames

A Negro woman identified as Anne Tobias, about 60, burned to death Wednesday night in Savannah when fire swept through a frame house she had moved into only three hours earlier.

Admit $4,000 Haul

Three Negroes arrested in Savannah have admitted the burglary of $4,000 worth of merchandise from an Augusta upholstery company, police said. They were listed as Willie Hicks, Clifford Gant and Thomas J. Douth, all of Augusta. . . . All McDuffie County officials except Ordinary J. D. Baston, who was defeated by John F. Watson, were successful in their bids for reelection in Wednesday's county primary.

British Send Interest Up To 5.5 Per.

LONDON, Feb. 16 (UP)—Britain's Conservative government today raised interest rates to 5.5 per cent, the highest in 24 years, in a move to halt inflation and bring its import-export trade back into balance.

R. A. Butler, majority leader in the House of Commons, said more steps to ease the growing economic crisis would be announced tomorrow.

The new Bank of England premium interest rate was hiked a point from the old rate of 4.5 per cent.

Prime Minister Anthony Eden's action, following a meeting with his Cabinet, came in the face of a Labor opposition charge that the government had failed to take adequate measures to bolster the sagging economy.

There was speculation the government might reimpose some of the austerity controls of wartime to stem the critical drain on Britain's dollar reserves and stop the upward spiral of wages and prices at home.

Britain's deficit between imports and exports took a sudden turn for the worse last month at a season when exports usually are at a peak. Imports were 207 million dollars above exports.

Simultaneously wages and prices have been edging up. Railroad workers received a big raise last month and the National Coal Board offered miners a similar hike today.

Dad-Son Crash Victims' Funeral

Constitution State News Service CUMMING, Feb. 16.—Double funeral services for Billy Fowler and his three-month-old son, David Fowler, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday in Haw Creek Baptist Church, Forsyth County.

The child was killed Wednesday morning when the car in which he was riding collided with a lumber truck. His father, who was driving the vehicle, died Wednesday afternoon in an Atlanta hospital. He was a bookkeeper for a Cumming feed concern.

She Gave Water to Union Troops, Kept Grudge at FDR, Dead at 105

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Rosa Nally, who aided thirsty Union troops during the War Between the States, died today at 105.

The troops often stopped at a pump near the orphanage where Mrs. Nally lived as a child, and she would fill their canteens. The home was at Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Nally, married twice, claimed her "husbands were all Republicans." She voted in every election after women were granted such rights.

She said she never forgave President Franklin D. Roosevelt for cutting her Union soldier widow's pension from $50 to $45. Mrs. Nally cared for her twin sisters until 1949 when they were evicted from their homes so repairs could be made. The twins went to live at a Catholic institution and Mrs. Nally moved in with friends.

Father Cited Teen Car Looters Here In Learner's No. 1 Police Problem Car Crash

By KEELER MCCARTNEY

An Atlantan has been subpoenaed to traffic court on charges of permitting his 15-year-old son to drive an auto in an incorporated area with a learner's driving permit, police said.

Pit. R. E. Avery and R. W. Gilstrap said they gave a copy of charges to Robert Moret of 1624 Johnson Rd., NE, a bottling company executive. The case is scheduled for trial at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Avery and Gilstrap said the youth was identified as driver of an auto that skidded into a utility pole in front of 1951 Lenox Rd., NE, Wednesday night, slightly injuring five persons.

The youth was invited to attend a session of the traffic court driver school on Monday, officers said.

Patrolmen quoted the youth as saying he obtained the auto keys from his father before he and four others set out for basketball practice.

A learner's driving permit stipulates that the holder cannot drive in an incorporated area, officers said. They added it is valid only in unincorporated areas, where the person is accompanied by a regularly licensed driver.

Thrill-seeking teen-age groups who strip accessories from parked cars have become Atlanta's most pressing police problem, Detective Supt. Glenn Cowan said Thursday.

The raids have become so prevalent in recent weeks that special detective crews have been assigned on a round-the-clock basis in an attempt to break them up, Cowan said.

NEW SLEUTHS

"We keep adding men from day to day with some measure of success," he said. "But complaints pour in by the dozen from every section of the city—hub caps, outside mirrors, fender skirts and the like."

Detectives assigned to the investigation say there is no evidence of stealing for profit. They

Accountants To Hear Audit Bureau Director

Lawrence W. Acker, national director of the Army Audit Bureau, will address a meeting of the Atlanta Chapter of the Federal Accountants Association at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, March 8, at the Atlanta Naval Air Station, J. M. Merrell Jr., president, announced.

PLAN TO WED—LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 16—As quizmaster Hal March, 35, of "The $64,000 Question" looks on, Mrs. Florence (Candy) Torme, 30, signs the application for their marriage license. She received her divorce decree from crooner Mel Torme Wednesday, and the couple will wed next Saturday in the Bridal Cottage at Hotel El Rancho Vegas.

are tagged "hold for DeKalb county authorities," police said. Wilbur and Moore said four others, including one juvenile, were apprehended last week. (Names of accused juveniles are withheld in accordance with Georgia juvenile law.)

Atlantan, 17, Took Car To Hunt Rob Scene

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

A 17-year-old boy was ordered bound over to Fulton Superior Court Thursday for the theft of a car which he and two other youths said was used to "ride around looking for a filling station to rob."

The youths told officials of Fulton Juvenile Court they did not hold up a filling station, however, because they were unable to find one with the "right set-up." They later abandoned the car.

One of the youths, 16 years old, had a .38-caliber pistol in his possession when they were picked up by police. He is being held in the Juvenile Detention Home.

Juvenile Judge W. W. Woolfolk ordered the older youth, Jerry Venable of 1117 Oak St., SW, held for the higher court after a hearing in the interest of the 16-year-old.

The third youth, identified as Kenneth Landrum, 17, is being held by Air Force authorities in Texas as AWOL.

Juvenile Court records show the youths took the automobile from in front of a home on Greenwood avenue, NE, where a 15-year-old girl with whom they were acquainted, lived.

The youths told court authorities they stopped at one station to "case it" but decided not to hold it up after learning that the attendant had only a money changer. They said they decided it would not be "worth it."

(Names of accused juveniles under 17 years of age are withheld in accordance with Georgia juvenile law.)

Youth Topic Of Northside Pupil Panel

Four high school seniors from Northside Atlanta schools will give their views on problems of youth and juvenile delinquency at 1:15 p.m. Monday at The Temple.

Henry Raymaker Jr., clinical psychologist for the Fulton County Child Guidance Clinic, will be moderator. The panel is sponsored by the Atlanta Section, National Council of Jewish Women.

Mrs. Niels Jacobson is president. Student speakers and their discussion topics are: Nancy Shreder, North Fulton High School, "Home and Family Relations;" Lillian Lander, Grady High School, "Religion;" Bobby Kahn, North Fulton High School, "School and Community;" and Julian Yudelson, Grady High School, "Friends and Neighbors."

The panel was set up by the council's mental health committee, headed by Mrs. Johnny Glustrom and Mrs. Arthur Levin.

HAPPY ENDING TO A DINNER PARTY—THE DESSERT CHEESE TRAY
Cheddar Cheese Wedges, Triangles of Camembert and Blue, Slices of Swiss

Cheese Fits Meal Pattern For Use Around the Clock

By JEANNE HIGGINS
Constitution Food Editor

Food fits into the meal before, during or after the main course. And that's just the beginning of its versatility.

It works around the clock, too. From breakfast as cheese toast or cheese eggs to the last midnight snack of cheese and crackers.

Cheese is in its prettiest party form as a dessert cheese tray with crackers and fruits. On the tray, you'll want at least three of the best dessert cheeses—Camembert, blue, gouda, edam, munster, port du salate or liederkranz.

The fun begins with the entree. There's no limit to the possibilities.

HAWAIIAN CHEESE RABBIT

1 1-pound can corned beef hash
6 rusks
6 pineapple rings
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
2 cups sharp cheddar cheese, cut in cubes
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1. Melt butter over low heat in saucepan. Add flour and mix well. 2. Gradually stir in milk. 3. Continue to cook, stirring constantly for 5 minutes. Add cheese and seasonings and cook until cheese has melted. Cut the corned beef into 6 slices. 4. To do this cut both ends of can, force corned beef through can in whole piece, cut in rounds. Broil corned beef and pineapple slices until slightly brown. 5. Place on rusk and cover with cheese sauce when ready to serve.

Swiss Cheese Pie is a simple entree to make and yet it gives the impression of something extra special.

Use your favorite recipe to make the pie crust. If made first, the pie shell can be chilling in the refrigerator while the other ingredients are being prepared. This helps in preventing the crust from becoming soggy from the filling while baking.

SWISS CHEESE PIE

1 9-inch pie shell
6 slices bacon, grilled and chopped
1½ cups shredded Swiss Cheese
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup cream, scalded
½ cup milk, scalded
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of pepper

1. Prepare pie crust in pie plate and chill in refrigerator. 2. Beat the eggs well, add seasonings—slowly add the cream and milk which have been scalded together. 3. Distribute chopped bacon and grated Swiss cheese evenly over the bottom of the pie shell. 4. Pour egg and milk mixture over the cheese. 5. Bake in preheated 400 degree oven for 10 minutes and then turn the temperature to 300 degrees and bake for about 30 minutes. 6. The pie is done when a silver knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Allow to stand 5 to 10 minutes before serving.

Pike, Cake, Pudding

Keep Month of February Festive With Gay Desserts of Cherry Red

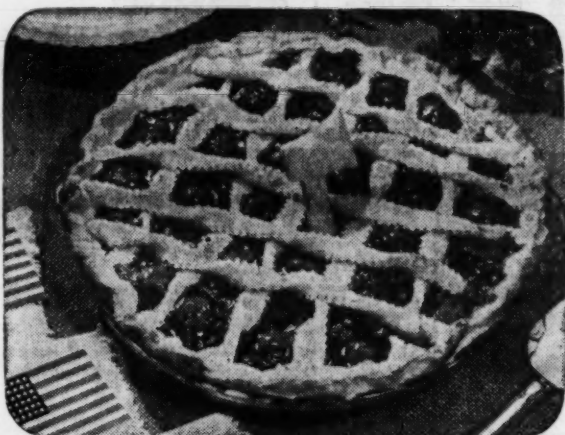

February is cherry flavored and cherry colored. And the desserts are cherry inspired. Cherries perk up a simple mix, make up the perfect pie and deck an angel cake in the most heavenly way.

Here are recipes for desserts to use during the rest of February, the month of cherry red.

FRENCH CHERRY PUDDING

1 package vanilla pudding
1½ cups milk
½ cup heavy cream
1 No. 2 can cherries
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch

1. Cook pudding with milk according to directions on package. 2. Cool to room temperature, stirring occasionally. Whip cream and fold in. 3. Pour directly into serving dishes. 4. Meanwhile, drain ½ cup juice from cherries and mix with cornstarch. Combine cherries and remaining juice with sugar and bring to boiling point, stirring to dissolve sugar. 5. Stir in cornstarch mixture gradually and boil until thickened, stirring occasionally; pour over cooled pudding and chill.

CHERRY PIE

FIVE MINUTE PIE CRUST
2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup lard or shortening
¾ cup water

CHERRY FILLING

1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) unsweetened cherries
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon almond flavoring

1. Filling: Drain liquid from cherries and heat. 2. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. 3. Stir into hot juice and cook over low heat until thick, stirring constantly. 4. Add butter and flavoring and let cool while making pie crust.

Pie Crust: 5. Sift flour with salt. 6. Add lard and cut into flour with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add water all at once, pressing dough together. 7. Divide dough in half and roll one part in ball. 8. Lay on light floured pastry cloth or board and roll lightly to ¼ inch thickness, rolling from center to edges. Fit into tin.

9. Fill crust with cherries and pour in thickened juice. 10. Roll remaining pastry and make lattice top. Flute edges.

11. Roll the trimmings of pastry to ¼ inch thickness and cut a small hatchet to top the pie. 12. Bake the pie at 400 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Bake pastry hatchet at 400 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes. Top pie with hatchet after removing from oven.

CHERRY ANGEL TORTE

2 cans red sour cherries
1 cup heavy cream
2 cups sugar
½ cup corn starch
1. Drain off ½ cup cherry juice and mix with corn starch. 2. Heat cherries, remaining juice and sugar to boiling point, stirring to dissolve sugar. 3. Stir in corn starch and mixture gradually and boil until thickened, at least three minutes, stirring constantly. 4. Cook, stirring occasionally. 5. Cut angel cake horizontally into four slices. 6. Spread cherry mixture between slices, sandwich fashion, and on top of cake.

Chicken OF THE Sea Tuna Round the Nation Dinner Dishes

These six suggestions for dinner dishes are so easy and economical! Made with the tender cuts of Chicken of the Sea Brand Tuna, they're so downright good you'll be serving them time and time again.

So keep these recipes right up front in your file. And keep Chicken of the Sea Tuna right out front in your cupboard... and to be sure you're getting these delicious tender tuna cuts, look for the Blonde Mermaid on the label.

...made with Chicken OF THE Sea Tuna Tender Cuts

Save these recipes! Cut along this line.

TACOMA TUNA SCHOONER

Cut a loaf of unsliced bread in two, lengthwise. (Vienna or French is good.) Spread cut surfaces with a soft, zippy cheese spread, using about ¾ of a 5- to 8-oz. jar. Mix rest of cheese with a can (6½- or 7-oz.) of Chicken of the Sea Tuna, a little chopped celery and onion, and a dash of pepper. Heap in 4 mounds on one of those halves of bread. Bake both pieces at 425° (hot) about 10 min. Set tuna-heaped half on a platter; garnish. Cut crosswise into 4 pieces. Cut other half loaf into chunks to serve separately.

CREAMED TUNA, GARDEN CITY

In one saucepan make creamed tuna—using cream sauce or condensed soup and a can (6½- or 7-oz.) Chicken of the Sea Tuna. In another saucepan cook a package of frozen mixed vegetables. When tender, drain and add to tuna. Season. Serve on waffles, toast or biscuits. Makes 4 servings.

BAYOU TUNA RICE

Steam rice as directed on package—enough to make about 3 cups cooked. Cook 1 package frozen peas, or heat 1 cup canned or cooked peas. Mix a can of condensed cream of celery soup with 1 cup diced Cheddar cheese; add a can (6½- or 7-oz.) of Chicken of the Sea Tuna. Heat until cheese melts. Add drained peas. Spoon hot rice onto platter, making a rough ring. Fill with hot tuna-cheese. Makes 4 servings.

COWBOY TUNA SKILLET CAKES

Beat 1 egg in bowl. Add a 6½-oz. can Chunk Style Chicken of the Sea Tuna; 8 soda crackers, crumbled fine; ½ teaspoon baking powder; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; ¼ teaspoon prepared mustard. Mix, shape into 3 or 4 patties; brown quickly in a little butter or margarine in skillet. Serves 2 or 3.

TUCSON TUNA SUPPER

Cook ½ lb. (2 cups) short-length macaroni. Empty a 1-lb. can of stewed tomatoes (the kind with green pepper, celery and onion in them) into a saucepan; boil gently while macaroni cooks. Add a can (6½- or 7-oz.) Chicken of the Sea Tuna; heat; season with pepper and garlic salt. Toss with drained macaroni and serve with grated cheese. Or, mix drained macaroni with tomatoes and tuna and ½ cup diced cheese in 2-qt. casserole and bake at 375° (moderate) 20 to 30 min. Makes 6 servings.

CHINA CAMP TUNA SUEY

Just empty a 1-lb. can chop suey vegetables into a skillet; add a can (6½- or 7-oz.) Chicken of the Sea Tuna. Mix lightly. Bring to bubble. Season with soy sauce and salt, if necessary. Serve on fluffy steamed rice or canned Chow Mein noodles, warmed in your oven. Enough for 3 or 4.

Variations on Theme Of Basic Soup Mix

The newest addition to the soup line is a mix that makes old-fashioned green pea soup.

This soup lends itself to plain and fancy treatment. It can be easily glamorized with toppings of whipped cream, chopped chives or cheese.

PUREE MONGOLE

Stir 1 package pea soup mix into 3 cups cold water, then blend in one 8-ounce can tomato sauce. Cook according to package directions and add ¼ cup milk.

QUICK AND HEARTY

In saucepan, saute ½ cup potato slivers and 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Blend in 3 cups cold water, 1 package pea soup mix and ¼ cup julienne summer sausage. Cook according to package directions. Simmer and additional 3 to 5 minutes until vegetables are tender.

COMPANY DINNER SOUP

Cook 1 package pea soup mix according to directions on package but add 1 tablespoon sherry before simmering soup. Ladle into soup bowls, top with salted whipped cream and sprinkle with grated American cheese. Brown under broiler until cheese is golden.

BACON SURPRISE

tablespoons bacon fat into saucepan. Saute for 5 minutes in fat, ¼ cup chopped onions and ½ cup grated carrot. Stir in 3 cups cold water, 1 package pea soup mix and cook according to package directions. Mix in crumbled bacon.

PEASANT SOUP

Saute 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 tablespoons minced celery and ¼ cup diced carrots in 2 tablespoons butter for 5 minutes. Add ½ cup frankfurter rings. Then stir in water and pea soup mix following directions on package. Bring to boil and simmer 3 to 5 minutes until vegetables are tender.

FRENCH "BOOLA-BOOLA"

Pour 1 pint clear green turtle soup, 1½ cups water and 1 tablespoon sherry into 1 quart saucepan. Stir in 1 package pea soup mix. Bring to boil and simmer 3 minutes. Ladle into individual soup bowls. Top with 1 spoonful whipped cream, sprinkle with grated American cheese. Heat under broiler until topping is a delicate toasty brown.

NANCY CARTER Tested RECIPES

FIRST PRIZE CHERRY PIE

1 can (19 oz.) CS red sour pitted cherries
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon red food coloring
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
2 tablespoons Triangle butter
Dough for 2-crust pie

Drain cherries thoroughly. (Use juice for gelatin salad or dessert base. Do not use it in this pie.) Mix sugar, flour and salt; save 1 tablespoon of this to sprinkle on bottom crust before putting in filling. Add cherries, coloring, extract and butter to flour mixture. Let this stand while crust is prepared. Divide dough almost in half, using larger portion for bottom crust. Roll out on lightly floured cloth until pastry is one inch larger than pie plate. Transfer dough to 8 or 9-inch oven glass pie plate, shaping it down into pan. Crimp edge if lattice top is used, otherwise moisten edge of pastry with a little cold water. Sprinkle with the flour mixture saved from above. Pour in filling. Roll out top crust or make a lattice top. If top crust is used, make several slits near center. Place top on pie. Seal edges. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, 30 to 40 minutes.

Crispy Croutons Add To Lima Supper Dish

Crisp croutons and soft, meaty lima beans are a wonderful contrast in this "western lima salad."

There's a good and garlicky dressing on it, too, so the rest of the supper can be rather plain when there's so much flavor in the salad.

WESTERN LIMA SALAD
2 cups cooked California large dry limas (scant 1 cup before cooking)
1/2 cup salad oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 crushed garlic clove
1/2 cup croutons
Salad greens

Just before serving toss marinated limas with croutons. Turn into bowl lined with greens. Serves 4.

Pudding Topping

Add orange juice to mince-meat and heat. Serve over cottage pudding or white or yellow cake squares.

Serve Onion Soup With Shirred Eggs and Crescent Rolls

Breakfast Menus Feature Soup as Morning Starter

Soup for breakfast, hearty, flavorful and filling, might well provide the answer to the need for more variety in your own early-morning menus.

Although eggs are not a traditional breakfast item in France, a happy concession can be made between American taste and continental flavor by serving shirred eggs with Quick Hollandaise Sauce.

Cream of Chicken Soup With

SHIRRED EGGS
Eggs Salt and pepper
Cream Butter

QUICK HOLLANDAISE SAUCE
1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Juice of 1/2 lemon
Cayenne or dry mustard

1. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Butter custard cups or ramekins. Pour one tablespoon cream in each. Carefully break an egg into each. Sprinkle with salt and pepper; dot with butter. Place on shallow baking pan. Bake 12-18 minutes or to desired firmness.

2. To make Quick Hollandaise Sauce, blend first three ingredients and add dash of cayenne or dry mustard, or any desired seasoning. Heat gently. Spoon sauce over each egg after removing from oven. Serve from dishes.

COMPANY BROWNIES
With Dates and Almonds

Special Occasion Brownies

No ordinary brownies these, but special occasion beauties, created to be served with pride at your most important spring dinners, teas and parties.

The batter, rich with premium unsweetened chocolate, is laden with bits of plump dates and flavorful crunchy almonds.

Decorated with date halves and whole almonds, baked and then cut in rectangles (or squares if you prefer) these brownies come to the table as the perfect accompaniment to refreshing orange sherbet. But they'll also stand on their own when served with tea, coffee or afternoon cocoa, for each one is a gem of tempting chocolate.

DATE-ALMOND BROWNIES

 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon double-acting baking powder
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter or other shortening
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cut dates
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped blanched almonds
1 teaspoon vanilla

1. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Melt shortening and chocolate over hot water. 2. Add sugar gradually to eggs, beating thoroughly. Add chocolate mixture and blend. 3. Add flour and mix well. 4. Add dates, almonds, and vanilla. Spread in greased 8x8x2-inch pan. 5. Decorate with date halves and whole almonds, if desired. 6. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 minutes, or until done. 7. Cool in pan; then cut into squares or rectangles. Makes about 20 brownies.

- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup finely chopped green pepper
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sliced pimiento

Cook SKINNER Macaroni as directed on package. Meanwhile, in saucepan simmer evaporated milk, salt, mustard and steak sauce over low heat to just below boiling (about 2 min.). Add cheese, stir over low heat until cheese melts (1 min. longer). After macaroni is tender and drained, add green pepper and pimiento. Pour sauce over all and mix thoroughly. Pour into greased 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -qt. casserole. Bake in 350° F. oven for 25-30 min. Serves 4.

Stuff French Rolls With Fiesta Filling

This is a good Sunday supper sandwich when you're not sure just how many pals the kids are bringing home for a bite.

Fiesta Stuffed Rolls are a good - eating combination of things you usually have on hand, so you can stretch them into feeding quite a number.

Ripe olives, cheese, tomato, onion and green pepper, plus some seasonings, are heaped into French rolls (or coneys) then toasted in the oven. Somehow a hot sandwich always seems to have more stick-to-the ribs quality than a cold one.

Stock up on ripe olives and the rest of the makings, and an onslaught at meal time won't faze you.

FIESTA STUFFED ROLLS

1 cup ripe olives

6 ounces sharp American cheese
1 Medium-sized tomato
3 green onions
2 tablespoons chopped green sweet pepper
1 tablespoon wine vinegar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chili powder
Dash black pepper

6 French rolls
Butter or margarine

1. Cut olives into large pieces.
2. Dice cheese and tomato. Slice onions thinly. 3. Combine olives, cheese, vegetables, vinegar, salt, chili powder and pepper. 4. Blend together thoroughly. Cut each roll in half lengthwise and hollow out soft center. Butter insides and heap with filling mixture. 5. Put halves together, rub lightly with butter and wrap each in waxed paper. 6. Place on baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Allow to cool 5 to 10 minutes in wrappings before serving. Serves 6.

Pineapple Waldorf

An unusual flavor treat is a Waldorf Salad to which one cup of pineapple chunks is added to 2 or 3 red apples which are coarsely chopped. Combine with 1 cup of sliced celery, $\frac{1}{2}$ -cup walnuts and toss lightly with salad dressing.

Italian Lasagna Is Made at Home, Makes Good Company Casserole

AN ITALIAN COMPANY CASSEROLE OF LASAGNA
Made of Lean Beef, Olives and Cheese and Lasagna Noodles

Have you ever cooked lasagne, the long fluted extra-wide noodles?

This lasagne is a wonderful casserole for company, because it's a little different. You'll find lasagne in any Italian grocery, and many others as well. If you just can't find any, you could substitute noodles instead, and the flavor would be the same.

It's layered in a baking dish with a rich-flavored meat sauce dressed up with shiny, flavorful ripe olive pieces, and two kinds of cheese.

LASAGNE

1 cup ripe olives
1 pound ground lean beef
1/4 cup olive oil
1 cup chopped onion
2 minced cloves garlic

1 (No. 2 1/4) can tomatoes
2 (6-ounce) cans tomato paste
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon dried basil
1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1/2 bay leaf
1 (8-ounce) package lasagne
1/2 pound Mozzarella cheese
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cut olives in large pieces and set aside. Brown beef in hot olive oil. Add onion and garlic, and cook until transparent. Add tomatoes, tomato paste, salt, basil, oregano, pepper and bay leaf. Cover, and simmer one hour, or until sauce is thickened. Stir in olives. Meanwhile, cook lasagne in boiling salted water 20 minutes. Drain. Slice Mozzarella cheese. In shallow baking dish, about 7x12x2 inches, spread about 1/4 the sauce. Cover with a layer of lasagne, arranging strips lengthwise of dish. Add layer of Mozzarella cheese, using about 1/4, then layer of Parmesan cheese. Repeat layers, ending with sauce and Parmesan cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes.

(*If Mozzarella cheese is not available, substitute a soft cheese such as Monterey Jack.)

To Measure Molasses

If you're using molasses in a recipe, pour it into the measuring cup or spoon. If you dip into the container with the spoon or cup you want to measure by, some of the molasses will stick to the underside and you won't end up with the exact amount called for.

Corn Bread Ring Ruins Circle Around Creamed Chicken Filling

Economy meals are easier to prepare with a little clever planning and, of course, the will to try something new.

A good example of an inexpensive main dish that is simple to make and will help you to use up leftovers, too, is this recipe for Ring Around the Chicken.

A golden brown cornbread ring filled to the brim with a rich cream sauce with bite-sized chunks of chicken makes a banquet of an ordinary meal. The fluffy cornbread is seasoned just right with onion and sage to give a perfect blending of flavors.

Suggestions for these extras might be buttery golden carrot strips and a salad of grapefruit sections and avocado slices. All the excitement and satisfaction of a glamorous meal will be yours when you serve this Ring Around the Chicken.

RING AROUND THE CHICKEN

CORN BREAD:

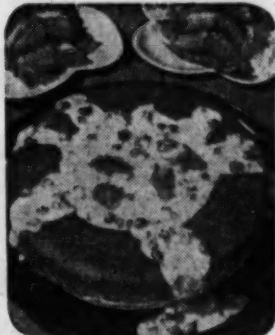

1½ cups enriched corn meal
½ cup sifted enriched flour
½ cup sugar (optional)
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup minced onion
¼ teaspoon sage
2 eggs
1½ cups milk
½ cup shortening, soft

CREAMED CHICKEN:
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup flour

1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
3 cups milk
2 cups chopped cooked chicken
1 10-ounce package frozen peas (about 1½ cups)
Paprika

1. Sift together dry ingredients into bowl. 2. Add remaining ingredients. 3. Beat with rotary beater until smooth, about one minute. Do not overbeat. 4. Bake in a well-greased 1½-quart ring mold in hot oven (425 degrees) about 25 minutes. Invert on platter.

5. While the cornbread is baking, prepare the creamed chicken. Melt butter in saucepan; add flour and seasonings.

CREAMED CHICKEN
In Corn Bread Ring

6. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly. 7. Cook over low heat until thickened. Add chicken and peas; cook until heated through. 8. Fill corn bread ring with creamed chicken. Sprinkle with paprika.

New Breakfast Twist

Delicious breakfast dish: Cook sausage cakes, browning both sides, then place in separate baking dishes or ramekins. Break an egg on each sausage cake and bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until the egg is set.

Colorful Fruits For Fall Salads

Article Calls Lamar Dodd a 'Compleat Man'

Lamar Dodd, Georgia artist, educator and administrator, is described as "the compleat 20th century man" in an article in the February issue of American Artist.

The article by Martha Davidson is illustrated by pictures of Dodd, his boyhood home, a full-color reproduction of his painting, "Venice Towers," and nine other paintings.

Dodd, who heads the art department at the University of Georgia, is depicted as "a man whose civic, administrative and artistic activities amaze, delight and never fail to stimulate his colleagues at the University."

Keeping On the Lid A Sobering Quality

By MARJORY SMITH

MEMO TO AN ATLANTA SECRETARY: If your boss is an Optimist and if he sneaks out to lunch early Friday, there's a reason. (You may notice he has a fresh haircut, too.) This is the day the Atlanta Optimist Club, along with hearing First National President Ed Smith speak on the economic outlook for '36, will have a photographer on deck to take members' individual pictures for new Optimist roster. This week's bulletin advises: "Be here and get it over!"

SOME MEN check their manners along with their hats.

That's the wail of a local night-spot hat check girl. ("But don't use my name or run my picture," she implored, "or I might lose some of my best tippers.")

Over the years the smiling brunette who stashes away Homburgs, derbies, and most of the head-gear in between—including occasional top-hats and even one or two rare berets—has noted that, just as the hat manufacturers advertise, a man's head covering does something for him.

"A lot of the boys seem to feel less inhibited without a hat," she reports. "Once it's off, they act spry. Some fellows will make cracks or be ruder when they're bare-headed. 'I had one customer, lawyer he was, that got into a higher income bracket and started sporting a Homburg. He used to have a real cute personality. Now he's more on the stuffy side, you might say. Has to live up to that dignified hat. Tips the same old quarter, though!'"

Hats have "a sobering effect on some drinkers," the unique feminine researchist thinks. "Take a man who's maybe had one too many cocktails. Well, it's funny, but once he gets his hat on, he walks straighter. I don't know why—but I've seen it happen time and again."

Hospital Recovery Rooms Big Aid, Says Story in the Sunday Paper

Look for these stories in Sunday's Atlanta Journal-Constitution:

A high percentage of Atlanta hospitals now have surgical recovery rooms. Staff Writer Katherine Barnwell writes that these rooms help the patients' chances of recovery in an interesting article in Sunday's Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

Only Jewel combines the purest, Best Frying—Best Baking Shortenings

Jewel-Discovery Brings you the First Truly All-Purpose Shortening.

Before Jewel, shortenings—including the so-called all-purpose ones—were good for frying... or for baking but not equally good for both. With the CMA process, successfully blending for the first time the best frying with the best baking shortening, came the one shortening best for both... truly all-purpose Jewel!

Jewel is pure... makes the old-fashioned kind of cake that's big, rich, fluffy!

So-called all-purpose shortenings contain synthetic blending agents. Snow-white Jewel has none. It's creamy, always quick to blend... makes cakes rich, moist, family-pleasing!

Jewel's 50° safety margin gives you smokeless frying... free from indigestible acids.

Jewel is smokeless even at 420°. Ordinary shortenings smoke about the time foods fry... 370°.

When shortening smokes it breaks down into hard-to-digest, bitter-tasting acids.

Jewel won't smoke even at 50° above frying temperature, your guarantee of delicious, always digestible fried foods.

Jewel's special "flaking" quality helps keep pie dough in tender layers.

Jewel never melts into flour under the rolling pin... helps make dough with alternate layers of flour and shortening.

A flaky-layered dough on the pastry board is a flaky, tender crust on the pie plate. That's a Jewel crust!

Decatur Firm Will Build Clayton County Classrooms

By HAROLD RHODEN

Central Construction Co. of Decatur has been awarded a contract for 16 classrooms at four Clayton County schools. Their bid was $210,929.

Four classrooms will be built at the Ash Street School in Forest Park, six at the Morrow School, four at the North Jonesboro School and two at the Riverdale School.

A $224,000 bond issue has been approved by Clayton County voters for constructing the classrooms. Some of the money will be used to purchase land in Forest Park for future school construction.

Civil Service Exams

Civil service examinations will be held in East Point to fill patrolmen posts. The exams will be held at 9 a.m. next Friday at Russell High School.

An examination for meter-reading eligibles will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Russell High School.

Starting pay for patrolmen is $250; meter readers start at $200.

Add Prayer To Votes For Right

QUESTION: I agree with you that our country is in a terrible condition. There is so much graft and corruption. In fact, I wonder if it is worth-while to vote any more since many of the candidates are not Christians. Do you feel this way about it?

ANSWER: I certainly do not accept your conclusion. Our nation was founded by men who had a great faith in God. They laid a foundation for us upon the principles of righteousness and the Bible. One of the most precious privileges growing out of those godly principles is the right and privilege of voting by secret ballot.

Even though our moral horizon is dark, I do not think we should fail to exercise our privilege. In fact, not only do we need to vote but we need to pray and act so that our nation under God may experience a spiritual revival.

If we Christian people would "humble ourselves and pray and seek God's face," I know we would find blessing and healing for our land. This is one of the great promises of the Bible.

Asks Negro 'Boycott' Harris

SAVANNAH, Feb. 16 (AP)—The president of the Savannah branch of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People Thursday night urged Negroes to "boycott" the appearance of Roy Harris at Savannah State College (Negro) on Saturday.

In Augusta, Harris said, "I have no desire to speak anywhere at anytime to anybody that doesn't want me. I accepted this invitation from the president of Savannah State College with a great deal of reluctance. Since they asked me, I thought it my duty as a member of the board of regents to accept."

"If they don't want me, I will be delighted to stay home. If I go, my position will be the same as it has always been."

3 Injured As Truck Rams Bus

Three trolley passengers were injured Thursday when a ton and a half truck rammed the rear of the trolley at Ashby and Neal streets, NW, police said.

Ptl. G. T. Hodges and J. M. Jackson said the truck driver, William Guy McLendon, 26, of Rockmart blamed brake failure for the crash.

Mrs. Bessie Sanders, 65, of 795 Play Lane NW, was treated at Grady Hospital for injuries to the left arm, shoulder and back, police said. Mrs. Louella Terrell, 33, of 479 Beard St., SW, and Mrs. Mary Covington, 58, of 736 Wiloughby Way, NE, suffered back and chest injuries, records showed.

Several other passengers complained of injuries, but stated they would consult private physicians, police said.

The trolley, operated by Silas G. Gurley, 58, of Rte. 2, Powder Springs, had stopped to take on passengers, patrolmen related. They quoted McLendon as saying the brakes on the truck failed when he attempted to stop.

McLendon, a furniture company employee, was booked on charges of following too close, accident and improper brakes. The case was scheduled for trial March 8 in Traffic Court.

WAYCROSS SOLDIER TOWERS OVER OFFICER 6-ft., 6-in. Pvt. "Big Bill" Harrison at Ft. Jackson

Army Is Hard-Pressed Clothing Giant Waycrossan

Special to The Constitution
FORT JACKSON, S.C., Feb. 16—It took five weeks, but the Army finally came through with complete Army uniforms for Pvt. William A. Harrison, 6-foot, 6-inch, 350-pound Fort Jackson trainee from Waycross, Ga.

The 20-year-old Waycross resident, whose waistline measures 50 inches, is in his fifth week of basic training with Co. G, 502nd Airborne Infantry Regiment here.

His case posed a particularly hard case for quartermaster officials at Ft. Jackson, as Pvt. Harrison's summer and winter dress uniforms had to be ordered specially from the Quartermaster Corps' depot in Philadelphia.

While he was waiting for the shipment of complete uniforms from Philadelphia, Pvt. Harrison showed his ingenuity by sewing two regulation web belts to hold up his made-to-order fatigues.

Other than the uniform problem, Pvt. Harrison's size has offered no difficulties, according to 1st Lt. Richard F. Morris, commanding officer of Co. G.

"I did have to request another duffel bag, however," Lt. Morris said, "because his clothes won't fit into one."

Appropriately, Pvt. Harrison was known as "Big Bill" when he played guard and tackle on the football team at Waycross High School.

Following graduation, he was employed as a bill collector in Waycross. Residents there said he had no trouble with delinquent debtors.

Pvt. Harrison, who is the son of Mrs. Arthur Harrison of Waycross, claims to be a modest eater.

Radford Urges U.S. Push Guided Missiles' Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, today said this country must push "with even greater vigor" its development of guided missiles and other new weapons.

Radford told the third annual Washington Conference of Mayors that Russian progress in this field poses "a tremendous challenge." He said that with the Soviet's iron-clad control of its scientists there is always a possibility the Communists might develop a better type of weapon than this country has.

Radford took part in a Pentagon briefing of more than 250 mayors of large American cities here for two days of meetings with top federal officials, mainly on matters related to civil defense.

Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, directing the conference, told reporters it is likely a number of American cities would be hit simultaneously by atomic weapons if another war comes. For that reason, he said the mayors must be given the fullest possible information on the foreign situation and on latest enemy weapons.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, told the mayors that the Russians are building the largest war machine in the world, including a long-range jet bomber that "compares with the best we have in the United States." These bombers, he said, can reach "our people, our schools and our cities."

Therefore, he said, the Air Force must locate jet interceptor outfits, despite some complaints of their noise, close to the cities they are supposed to protect.

SAYS GOOD-BY—BLOOMFIELD, Iowa, Feb. 16—William Karston, 30, says good-by to his wife, Marjorie, and son, Jimmy, 3, before a trip to Iowa Penitentiary to begin a life sentence. He was found guilty at a second trial of the 1954 holdup slaying of farmer Wendell Jones.

4 Die, 4 Survive Crash Of B52 Stratofortress

TRACY, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—An Air Force B52 global bomber, newest and most potent weapon of the Strategic Air Command, plunged out of the sub-stratosphere and crashed here today, apparently killing four of the eight men aboard.

The huge eight-jet plane was at first reported to have collided in flight with a jet fighter while engaging in a high altitude mock dog-fight, but this report was later discounted.

The Air Force said the crash was caused by "mechanical trouble." One civilian witness said the plane appeared to "blow up" in flight. The bomber, dubbed the "Stratofortress" by the Air Force, was the first of its type to crash. The plane was from Castle Air Force Base near Merced, Calif., and carried eight men—two more than the usual complement.

The San Joaquin County sheriff's office and the Air Force said there were four known survivors. Three were taken to a Tracy hospital and one to a Stockton hospital. Their injuries were said to have been minor.

The Air Force listed the remaining four men as "missing" pending a search of the wreckage. The

Tuskegee Views With Alarm Late Developments in South

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Feb. 16 (AP)—The faculty of Tuskegee Institute today expressed "grave concern" over recent "developments" in the South "which indicate a deterioration in democratic processes and full citizenship opportunities."

Although not specifically mentioned, the reference obviously referred to racial unrest at the University of Alabama over enrollment of a Negro coed, Autherine J. Lucy.

The faculty of the famed Negro institution issued this statement after the regular February meeting:

"The faculty of Tuskegee Institute observed with grave concern recent developments in Alabama, as well as in other Southern states, which indicate a deterioration in democratic processes and full citizenship opportunities."

"The seriousness of these developments is magnified in the light of ideals for individual fulfillment and of guarantees of opportunity expressed in the Federal Constitution."

"Further, there are crucial world situations which demand an increasingly high measure of mutual understanding and opportunity for all people."

"The Constitution of the United States expresses the common aspiration and guarantees the rights of all citizens without regard to section or racial origin. Grave responsibilities rest upon all citizens to deal ethically with problems in their local communities."

"It is our deeply held conviction that local actions should at all times be consistent with the principles of the Constitution. 'Education plays a crucial role in the growth of all citizens.

"We call upon all of our colleagues in education and in their professional organizations to exemplify fully their dedication to educational service and to the free play of the scientific spirit which is basis to our profession."

"Education is a tower for good. We reaffirm our determination to continue to build here at Tuskegee an educational institution which reflects not only the high ideals of scientific research and teaching but also the democratic principle and Christian ethics of responsible citizenship."

FOOD IDEAS BUY-LINES by Nancy Sasser

A WEEKLY ADVERTISING COLUMN OF THINGS NEW AND INTERESTING
New York, Feb. 16—All in favor of deliciously different dishes say that the ones featured on the KRAFT TV Theatre are two of the best and I'm sure you'll agree... so let me suggest you try:

• DATE-NUT CREAM CHEESE LOG
Place 1 8-oz. pkg. Philadelphia Brand Cream Cheese in a bowl and cream until soft and smooth. Blend in 1 tsp. orange juice, mixing until light and fluffy. Cut 1 can Cross & Blackwell Date & Nut Roll into 1/2-inch slices. Spread each slice evenly with the cream cheese mixture, placing one on top of the other, forming a roll. Frost the entire surface of the roll with the remaining cream cheese. Chill until firm. Just before serving cut in diagonal slices to give a striped appearance. 6 servings.

• WAFFLED CHEESE SANDWICHES
For each sandwich, place a Kraft Deluxe Slice Pasteurized Process American Cheese between 2 slices of white bread, crusts trimmed. Brush the outside with melted Parkay Margarine and bake the sandwiches in a heated waffle iron until the cheese is melted and sandwich is brown. Garnish each sandwich with stuffed olives in a lettuce cup.

• ONION-LOVERS, dry those eyes... because there's a wonderful new way to cook-in perfect onion flavor and you never get within a knife's reach of an onion peel. It's Campbell's Onion Soup... and no more delicious way to discover what cooking wonders it works than with this quick and easy recipe for:

• SWISS STEAK
Just pound about 1/4 cup of flour into 1 1/2 pounds of round steak. Brown both sides in shortening in a heavy skillet. Pour in 1 can Campbell's Onion Soup. Cover and cook over low heat about 1 hour or until meat is tender. Makes 6 servings.
Makes mighty good eating, too... so always have Campbell's Onion Soup on hand.

• LOW COST MEATS become elegant treats... when served with a big bowlful of GREENWOOD'S Sweet Sliced Pickled Beets! Take my word for it... I find that even humble hamburger has a delicious deluxe taste when served with Greenwood's Pickled Beets. That's because they have a spicy, taste-tingling flavor that's a fairly exciting change from the usual dull vegetables and brings out the best in meat. GREENWOOD'S Harvard Beets work the same magic, too... tender and buttery, in a savory, sweet'n' sour glazed sauce. All Greenwood's foods are vacuum packed in glass jars, so you can see how good they are!

Record Review

Reiner, Mozart

A Superlative Combination

MOZART—Symphonies No. 38, 39, 40, 41. Chicago Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Fritz Reiner. RCA-Victor.

An album which must be described with superlatives throughout: the symphonies are among the finest in the literature, the performances stirring and meaningful, and the sound superb. Choice fruits from the Mozart bicentennial offerings.—BG.

A TENOR ON THE HIGH C'S. Kurt Baum in Operatic Selections. Allegro-Royale.

A somewhat uneven performance by tenor Baum, ranging from a rather good "Salut Demeure" from "Faust" to a rather poor "Che Gelida Manina" from "La Boheme." Sound reproduced with satisfactory fidelity.—BG.

ROY HARRIS—Fantasy for Piano and Orchestra. Performed by MGM Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Izler Solomon. Abraham Lincoln Walks at Night. Performed by Nell Tangeman, mezzo-soprano, and violin, cello, piano. MGM.

Excellent sound-and-feeling interpretations in these first LP pressings of two Harris works. The selections may be a little ultra-modern for some tastes, but admirers of the composer won't go wrong with this release.—BG.

The Worry Clinic
By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Good Appetite And Extra Pounds

Rev. Paul, aged 47, is a very successful clergyman.

"Dr. Crane, he has inspired hundreds of people to join the church," one of his parishioners informed me.

"And he has burned the mortgage for three different churches which he has served."

"But his two sons have gone to the dogs. As a parent, therefore, he has been a failure."

"How do you explain the fact that a trained college man can be so successful in one realm and such a flop in another?"

HABITS ARE SPECIFIC
Previously this week I have stressed the facts that habits are specific.

A chemist may have a Ph.D. degree and be in Who's Who for his great skill in handling chemicals. Yet he can be a miserable failure as a parent.

The ancient prophet Samuel was a great clergyman, but a total flop as a parent. And so was the prophet Eli ahead of him.

TEST FOR PARENTS
Being a good parent requires just as precise and definite skill as being a chemist or banker or musician or engineer. And that parental skill is not synonymous with music or banking, either.

Thus, men must not assume that they will be successful parents just because they are talented editors or bankers or musicians or even clergymen.

For that very driving energy that leads a man to success in his given profession, may make him rather blunt and tactless with his own youngsters.

He may dominate them without realizing that fact. Or he will expect them to jump to attention, like his employees.

Successful men often hold up an unfair yardstick of accomplishment for their own children, and then bowl them out unmercifully when they don't meet such lofty paternal demands.

SPOILED CHILDREN
Sometimes, too, a famous parent has an extra disadvantage. Rev. Paul, for instance, was in this dilemma.

For gushing parishioners would "make a fuss" over his sons even as toddlers and spoil them, partly out of regard for their talented father, or as a means of currying favor with him.

The boys thus did not merit this spotlighting because of any individual attainments which they had shown, so they learned to ride the coattails of their distinguished dad.

This made them lazy and inclined to sponge off of others. And they ultimately got into trouble.

DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Good Appetites And Real Hunger

Why do obese individuals eat too much? The answer to this question is the solution to overweight. Some believe that our more corpulent brethren eat to satisfy an inner need; gorging overcomes their emotional problems. A German psychiatrist referred to this compensating mechanism as "lard sorrow."

On the other hand, do these men and women overeat because of hunger or an enormous appetite? Satiety enters the picture because fatties may not know when they have had enough.

I doubt if hunger plays a role. This disagreeable sensation is caused by involuntary contractions of the stomach and the pangs disappear after a few mouthfuls of food.

In this respect, hunger differs from appetite, which is based upon previous experiences, likes and dislikes. Appetite may persist long after hunger disappears. But something happens during the meal that informs us when we have had enough (satiety).

Most animals obey the signal whereas man often eats and drinks more than the body demands.

Some persons are satisfied sooner than others and it is here that the thin differs from the fat. Many physicians believe this to be the crux of the problem.

Satiety is conditioned to some extent by social environment. Some persons acquire the over-eating habit by frequenting fine restaurants or drinking cocktails or wines before or during the meal.

Others live in an environment where fashion dictates a thin figure; they become accustomed to light meals and in time lose their sense of hunger.

Satiety also is related to the type of food we select. Meals rich in proteins are more satisfying than those high in carbohydrates and fats. A protein diet is lower in calories which adds to its popularity in weight reducing.

The blood sugar level plays a role. There is some evidence that appetite wanes when the blood sugar increases and that hunger occurs when the amount is reduced.

The chief objection to this theory is that diabetics are hungry even with a high blood sugar usually is associated with weakness rather than hunger.

Recent studies have shown that satiety is related to the need of the tissues for sugar. The individual does not feel "full" until his body tissues receive their quota of carbohydrates. Despite these chemical studies, we continue to see thin men and women with good appetites and vice versa.

Food consumed by the slender is not burned more completely or eliminated unabsorbed. It sticks to the ribs but is mixed with less water. The deposits are not heavy because they are more concentrated.

The theory now is that the underfed who continue to maintain weight end up with food substances in the tissues that are mixed with more water.

The bidding:
North 1 no trump
West 3 no trump
South 3 hearts
Pass

Opening lead: Nine of clubs.
A slam contract which would normally be a clinch proved to be a test for declarer when all the trumps were stacked in one hand.

North had the classic requirements for a one no trump opening and South responded with a jump shift in hearts. Because his balanced distribution offered no ruffing power and because his high card holding was minimum, North preferred to play for the lower level game and did not disclose his heart support. South was too powerful to give up without a further try and bid four clubs, his secondary suit. Aware now of the splendid fit, North made an effort to correct the impression created by his minimum rebid and called five hearts. South, with second-round control of both unbid suits, eagerly accepted the invitation.

West opened the nine of clubs which was won in dummy with the queen. There were 11 tricks apparent in high cards and the 12th could be brought in by ruffing the fourth club in dummy, so declarer started the extraction of trumps. A dark cloud descended when East showed out. Now it appeared that declarer's only hope was that West had led originally from a three-card club holding, but this seemed unlikely.

Presently, a "sure-fire" method occurred to South. He could increase the number of trump tricks to six by ruffing two spades in his own hand and drawing trumps with dummy's hearts. After cashing the king of hearts South led a diamond and dummy's jack held. A diamond continuation was taken by West's ace and a diamond came back. The ace of spades was cashed and a low spade ruffed by South. A trump was led and the dummy's nine of hearts finessed. North's last spade was then ruffed with the ace of hearts and declarer led his low heart to dummy to pick up the remaining two trumps and permitting South to discard the losing club on North's jack of hearts.

Good Muffins Made at Home For Breakfast

Toasted English Muffins make good breakfast eating the year around. They are always available from your baker.

But it might be fun sometime to try your hand at making them at home.

Here's how you do it: Soften 1 package yeast, compressed or dry, in $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry). Scald 1 cup milk. Add 2 tablespoons sugar, $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons salt and 3 tablespoons shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add 2 cups sifted enriched flour. Mix well.

Add softened yeast and 1 egg. Beat well. Add enough more flour (about 2 cups) to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Put in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1 hour).

Punch down and let rest 10 minutes. Roll out $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch thick. Cut with 3-inch cookie cutter. Cover and let rise on board until doubled (about 45 minutes).

When light, bake slowly on ungreased, heavy griddle. Have griddle hot at first, then reduce heat so muffins will brown slowly and evenly. Bake 7 to 8 minutes on each side. Makes about 12 3-inch muffins.

The punch is made of apple juice . . . the pure juice, vigorous, lively, full of apple zest. Then apricot nectar is added, and scoops of frosty sherbet to bob jauntily as they gradually melt and add their taste. Lemon slices float on top, red cherries drift through the amber depths. And the punch is served as clinking cold as you can manage.

Set out on the buffet. It invites guests to ladle their own when and as often as they will.

PARTY PUNCH

1 cup apricot nectar, chilled
1 pint lemon sherbet
Lemon slices
Maraschino cherries

1. Combine chilled juices; pour into punch bowl. 2. Using small ice cream scoop, float scoops of sherbet on top. 3. maraschino cherries. Makes 7 cups. Garnish with lemon slices and

Tips on Cherry Pie

Don't let George Washington's birthday find you without a home-made cherry pie to help celebrate this important American holiday. Here are a few tricks which will help you make a perfect pie every time.

To keep a cherry pie from boiling over, stick $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch pieces of uncooked macaroni in the top of the pie. As the pie bakes, the juice will boil up in the little "chimneys" instead of over the side. When the pie is done, remove the macaroni.

If you are using canned cherries, a few drops of red food coloring, almond flavoring and plenty of rich butter will make the cherries look and taste as if they've just been picked from the tree.

An easy way to create a lattice effect is to cut long strips of pastry $\frac{1}{4}$ inch wide with a knife or pastry wheel. Twist the strips and place them across the pie $\frac{1}{4}$ inch apart and parallel to each other. Place the same number of twisted strips in the opposite direction, thus creating a lattice effect. To make a pretty edge, fold the lower crust over ends of strips and press down. Make a high fluted edge by crimping the dough between the knuckle of the left forefinger and the thumb and forefinger of the right hand. Be sure to have all the ingredients at room temperature and don't be afraid to mix the dough well.
